All, below are the talking points we can use for the call today based on what we discussed yesterday. Feel free to chime in if I missed something.

Kim R,
do you want to lead off the discussion and Ruth and Matt can jump in? Happy to proceed however you prefer. Nana, I'd appreciate it if you could please join just to address potential legal questions if they arise and will forward you the meeting invite momentarily.

Thanks, Kim ZB

Talking points:

Our role is to monitor BIE's fiscal and programmatic systems, and we have several tools with which to conduct our monitoring.

We don't look at school systems, that's the BIE's job.

But if we find that BIE's systems are not robust enough and they're not doing their job, we have enforcement tools.

OSEP monitors the BIE's compliance with IDEA in a variety of ways, including: the State Performance Plan/Annual Performance Reports (SPP/APR) and determinations; special conditions; Corrective Action Plan (CAP); and regularly scheduled phone calls.

These tools look at both fiscal and programmatic issues. We are happy to provide more detail about these tools if you would like.

In addition to these tools, there are other ways in which issues come to our attention – including media reporting.

OSEP is working to schedule a call with BIE next week.

OSEP will discuss the allegations regarding the Havasupai with the BIE and take appropriate actions. These actions may include some or all of the following: 1) provide technical assistance on how to address the chronic problems in delivering special education and related services; 2) require correction of any identified non-compliance; and 3) require periodic reporting on progress.

OLCA will be glad to provide an update after OSEP and BIE connect.

Show Time As Busy

Colleagues,

I am sad to announce the pending departure of our colleague, Dr. Monique Chism, the Deputy Assistant Secretary for Policy and Programs in the Office of Elementary and Secondary Education. Monique's last official day will be on September 30, 2017. As you know, Monique has been a great colleague, leader, thought partner and contributor to our mission at ED for over five years, leveraging her past experiences as an educator, consultant and state education administrator, which has helped her bring a refreshing perspective and relevance to the work we do. While losing her from ED is a big loss indeed, I am happy that Monique will be continuing in education-related work. She has accepted a position at the American

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Institutes for Research as a Vice-President for Policy, Practice, & Systems Change. I have no doubt that she will have an indelible presence there, just as she has had such significant impact and influence here at ED.

We are hosting a dessert reception to honor Monique and to allow for the staff and others around ED to share well wishes with her. The reception will be held on next Thursday, September 28, 2017, between 1:30-3:00 p.m., in OESE, Conference Room 3C100.

Thanks,

MW

Hi Jason –
I hope that you and the family are having an awesome summer! I'm excited to connect you with Jason Botel, who as you likely know is leading ED's office of elementary and secondary education as the Acting Secretary. He and I were talking about various state landscapes and I thought that you would have some great perspective and wisdom to lend to him. I also think that the two of you would really like one another.

Jason B, Jason Kloth is on vacation right now with his family, but I am sure that he will get back to you as soon as he is back in town.

I will let the two of you take it from here.
Cheers,
Anne

Purpose: to share some of the policy progress happening in states, and best practices around implementation. We are working in every state in the US implementing high-quality K-12 computer science across rural and urban communities. We have a network of 58 partners and tens of thousands of active teachers reaching millions of students. And we are engaged with more than half of the states on policy issues related to K-12 CS. We have a great view of the field of K-12 computer science we can share with you and have a dialog about what's working for scaling this discipline and reaching underserved populations.

Jake Baskin with Code.org and Ellen Fern with Washington Partners will also be in attendance. Michelle Page with Code.org will be calling in.

Steven Wagner, Acting Assistant Secretary
Mr. Steven Wagner is the Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary and Acting Assistant Secretary at HHS' Administration for Children and Families. Before joining the Administration, Wagner was the President of QEV Analytics, a public opinion and data analysis firm he founded in 1996. During his tenure at QEV, he collaborated for 17 years with Joseph Califano, the former President of the National Center on Addiction and Substance Abuse at Columbia University (and former Secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare) on identifying strategies to keep kids from abusing illegal drugs, tobacco and alcohol. Wagner also worked with clients to develop and implement messaging to help at-risk populations avoid poverty. Wagner was the Founder and President of Solidarity with the Persecuted Church, the 501(c)(3) organization which supports Christians in places of persecution, such as Iraq, Syria and Nigeria. He previously served as ACF's Director of the anti-human trafficking program. In this capacity, he launched the "Rescue and Restore Victims of Human Trafficking" public awareness campaign designed to increase victim identification and rescue, a campaign which was recognized for excellence by the prestigious Silver Anvil Award of the Public Relations Society of America. He also initiated the trafficking information and referral hotline, local anti-trafficking community coalitions in 17 cities and programs to better meet the restorative needs of victims.

Wagner was the Director of the Office of Faith-Based and Community Initiatives at the U.S Department of Housing and Urban Development, where he realized the reform of HUD regulations necessary for the full and non-discriminatory participation of faith-based and community organizations.

Good afternoon, all –

As you may have heard, the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) can be a hot button topic in the federal government. Not to worry: the Office of the General Counsel and FOIA Service Center are providing training to answer all your FOIA questions, including:

What are our obligations under FOIA?
Who can file a FOIA request?
What records fall within the reach of FOIA?
Does FOIA allow us to protect any of our records from disclosure?
What are the most common types of FOIA issues raised at the Department?
What do we do if we receive a FOIA request?

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Please join us for this informational training, and learn how we at ED put the "fun" in FOIA!

Hi Paula-- I spoke with Omari and he said it was totally fine to have Jason call him any time next week when he has a chance. He said it can be an organic convo (don't need to schedule but Jason can just call).

I will follow up with you at the end of next week to see if they were able to connect- and if not then we will just look to schedule something the week after.

Does this sound OK to you?

Let me know.

Thank you,

Hi John,

Any chance we could meet tomorrow at 11:30am at EEOB? I just got off the phone with Ja'Ron Smith from DPC, and

1. I think it would be very helpful in the conversation; he spoke with Rick Dearborn today about Stillman;
2. It seems we should have this conversation sooner rather than later.

Please let me know. thanks!

Subject: Meeting: evidence in education

Jason, Ebony,

I'm writing to request a meeting to discuss how ED can best use data and evidence to improve student outcomes.

We've been particularly focused on evaluation, evidence-driven innovation (EIR), Pay for Success, and evidence-informed grant making. I'd love to talk with you more about these and how the Secretary could leverage evidence to advance policy priorities. I could also talk about the annual HYPERLINK "http://2016.results4america.org"scorecard that we do of federal agencies, in which ED has participated and HYPERLINK "http://results4america.org/tools/works-federal-agencies-celebrate-progress-release-rfas-2016-federal-index/"featured as a leader across the federal government.

Any chance you have a few minutes in the next week or so? Glad to meet you for coffee if you prefer to get out of the office.

Thanks for your consideration,
Jeremy

Subject	Discuss Stillman re:Payments
Location	Jason's Office 3W315
Attachments	Stillman calculations.xlsx Stillman Secretary DEd Letter 4.15.pdf
Show Time As	Busy

Purpose: To discuss Stillman & Loan Payments.

Materials: As required, please send materials to Mike Johnston as soon as possible.

President Warrick says that Stillman is unable to make any payments whatsoever until September 1, and at that time and for the foreseeable future (at least a couple years until she is able to boost enrollment toward 2,000 students) will be able to pay only the original monthly loan payment amount of $259,000.
President Warrick mentioned that Stillman has an endowment of $17 million and asked whether they could "retroactively" match Title III funds for the endowment. Admittedly, I don't know exactly what she has in mind here.
Based on the information Don and President Warrick provided, Stillman needs help paying a total of $3,564,013 over the next six months, and then can pay the remaining $60,676,434 over the next 20 years.
Attached is a simple spreadsheet I drafted to make these calculations.
Question: what happens if ED does not receive $680,436 on 5/1/17 (or does not receive a full payment on any date)?

From Bill Poole, Alabama state legislator:

· I have been informed that Dr. Warwick has accepted a permanent position with the College, thereby removing her interim status. I believe that such a move signals that the leadership and community is committed to supporting her vision and leadership, and also signals her commitment and belief that Stillman can be successful if given the opportunity.

· I also understand that there has been some discussion regarding the possibility of matching funds for Stillman's endowment under Title III.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I do not fully understand the intricacies of this issue, but the explanation that have heard strikes me as logical. I have asked for this issue to be explored in greater detail on our end, but in light of the time constraints facing Stillman, I thought it worth mentioning.

· In regards to the analysis of possible options, I would also make you aware that pursuant to the recent satisfaction of another loan, Stillman now enjoys 40 acres of unencumbered real estate that could be leveraged in order to accommodate any possible resolution.

· I am informed that Stillman has experienced some success recently with respect to alumni donations. This is an encouraging signal that the alumni and others are willing to support Stillman through this challenge, and that additional donations would be likely if a pathway to resolution is identified.

· Stillman is also exploring all possible options related to the possibility of advancing funds or guarantees from the Stillman Endowment/Bellingrath Foundation.

We would also like to ask if you would be interested in doing a Q and A with the Teachers of the Year at the close of the event. We know these teachers would love to interact with an ED official and have a chance to follow up on some things they learned and heard during their 90 minutes at ED. Dear Mr. Botel:

In late April, the 2017 class of State Teachers of the Year (STOYs) will be visiting Washington as part of Washington Week sponsored by the Council of Chief State School Officers. It has been a tradition for the last many years for the State Teachers of the Year to visit the Department of Education during this celebratory week and to briefly meet with the Secretary as a large group.

As Teaching Ambassador Fellows and State Teachers of the Year from 2014 and 2015, we want to encourage Secretary DeVos to accept the invitation to participate in the high-level National Teacher of the Year events and to work with staff to welcome the STOYs to ED.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

After our Fellowship team met with you and Secretary DeVos in February, we felt a sense of collaboration and shared perspective that we would like the State Teachers of the Year to experience as well. It was a chance to connect on a personal level and begin important dialogue between the new administration and teachers in the field. During this transition, dialogue between policy makers and practitioners is needed now more than ever.

Engaging with the 50 State Teachers of the Year is also an important opportunity for the Secretary and the Department. Each of these educators is a well-regarded, opinion leader in his or her state and is afforded unique opportunities to speak and share his or her thoughts. We found that hearing directly from the Secretary in years past, and sharing our experiences with staff at the Department had far more impact on our understanding of national priorities than reading alone could ever provide. Those experiences opened doors to more interactions with the Department as STOYs, through Teach to Lead, and ultimately to our roles working directly with and on behalf of the Department.

We are currently in discussion with staff at CCSSO and members of the Educator Engagement at ED about the possibility of hosting the STOYs on or around April 27. We hope that you support this effort and participate in this discussion. We also hope you will also encourage the Secretary to take time to welcome the STOYs to ED and to accept the opportunity to address the group directly.

Thanks for your consideration,

Melody Arabo, 2015 MI Teacher of the Year, Anna Baldwin, 2014 MT Teacher of the Year, and

On behalf of Corey D. Gruber, Acting Associate Administrator for the Office of Response and Recovery of the Federal Emergency Management Agency:

The Recovery Support Function Leadership Group (RSFLG) in coordination with the National Security Council will be convening their inaugural quarterly meeting at the Eisenhower Executive Office Building on April 20, 2017. These meetings will streamline efforts, build upon best practices from the 2016 Louisiana floods, and fulfill the tasking of the RSFLG to "improve the effectiveness and unity of effort of coordinated Federal recovery support through the engagement of the interagency leadership" as stated in the organization's charter.

These quarterly meetings will serve as a venue for critical decision making, senior level table top exercises, and critical policy and guidance updates. Representatives from each of the coordinating and primary agencies for the six Recovery Support Functions (RSFs) will be in attendance.

We would like to formally request your participation in this meeting

All,

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Please be certain to spend some time over the next 24 hours putting some thought into this. If you would like to send me a list of items that cross your mind, I will compile them into a single document in advance of this meeting.

Thanks,
Eric

Cabinet Chiefs,

The White House is preparing materials for our efforts in the lead up to the Administration's 100-Day mark. To do so, we need from each department or agency:

(1) a one-page, formatted executive summary that highlights your department's achievements thus far, and

(2) supporting materials that provide background and additional information about each accomplishment.

This information will be used in developing and presenting a message that touts all our team has done since Day One of the new Administration.
Please ensure your submission is fully vetted for accuracy and is otherwise ready for Presidential review.

Please send your completed materials to Staff Sec (copied) by Noon on Monday, April 24. Let me know if you have any questions.

All best,
Rob

Materials:

Staff participated in an employee recognition working group to help create our new recognition program.
The OESE employee recognition program is comprised of three tiers. Kudos, the name of Tier 1, the tier at the base of the triangle, enables OESE staff to recognize and express day-to-day appreciation to their peers through an online employee recognition site called KUDOS.
OESE staff can recognize their colleagues privately, or on a public recognition wall within the Kudos enabled software.
Kudos is a peer-to-peer employee recognition tool that is:
a written/non-monetary way to extend thanks to peers

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

"By Employees, For Employees"
Individualized from one employee to another a tool to recognize the good contributions people make. These contributions are not necessarily a product; they could be Assistance -- that is voluntary, timely, and/or helpful
Action -- Helping with a project, making a presentation, giving good feedback Attitude – Always being positive, offering assistance before being asked
Kudos supports OESE values. When recognition messages are sent through Kudos, senders select organizational values that reflect the work or action being recognized. This ties peer recognition back to our organizational values and positively and publically reinforces behaviors that further support a successful OESE culture

Subject: Re: Meeting and letter requests
Hi Jason ,
Here is the letter we sent to Secretary DeVos in February. Knowing that the timing on this is very close and she may not be able to join, (It is 10 days away), the schedule is packed . We would be able to host her but for only about 10 minutes of speaking time. If she can do it, that would be great. But we understand it is a big ask at this point in time.
Having said that, we really do want to engage her and have her learn more about our work. Would you offer some guidance for us to get on her calendar and present what America's Promise is doing and how we can work together?
Let me know your thoughts. Happy to jump on a call and run through this with you, as well.

Thanks again!!

Tricia

Hi Debbie--here is NASSP Event Request Form for Jason to speak at their Legislative Conference on April 25th. For context, it will be very like the event he did last Tuesday for NAESP's Legislative Conference , only with secondary level principals this time as opposed to elementary principals.

Looping Jason/Paula for awareness, and to note that while they have 11 a.m. as your presentation time for this, they've offered to move things around to accommodate your schedule.

Thanks, pls let me know if you have questions, Karen

Subject: Fellowship Applicants--Phone Interviews

Jason—attached for your info is the list of Fellowship applicants that we will interview over the phone beginning next week. I think by around the 25th or 26th, we should have a list of those top candidates we want to bring in and in-person interview the week of May 8th (keeping that travel total at $10K). Does it make sense for us to sit down with you and go over what the phone interviews yielded? If you think so, I'll go ahead and get a half-hour on your calendar with Paula for the the 25th or 26th; if not, we can send you a much smaller list at that time.

Also, on a different topic, for the NASSP and IEL events you've said 'yes' to, I'm assuming just remarks and still no Q&A, correct? Please just let me know if something has changed on that front.

Thanks,
Karen

Good morning!

I'm following up to confirm that this event with the State Teachers of the Year is on your calendar. It has now been set for Thursday, April 27 from 1-2:30 pm.

We would also like to ask if you would be interested in doing a Q and A with the Teachers of the Year at the close of the event. We know these teachers would love to interact with an ED official and have a chance to follow up on some things they learned and heard during their 90 minutes at ED. Please let me know if this is something that interests you.

Thank you and have a great day!

Dear Mr. Botel:

In late April, the 2017 class of State Teachers of the Year (STOYs) will be visiting Washington as part of Washington Week sponsored by the Council of Chief State School Officers. It has been a tradition for the last many years for the State Teachers of the Year to visit the Department of Education during this celebratory week and to briefly meet with the Secretary as a large group.

As Teaching Ambassador Fellows and State Teachers of the Year from

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

2014 and 2015, we want to encourage Secretary DeVos to accept the invitation to participate in the high-level National Teacher of the Year events and to work with staff to welcome the STOYs to ED.

After our Fellowship team met with you and Secretary DeVos in February, we felt a sense of collaboration and shared perspective that we would like the State Teachers of the Year to experience as well. It was a chance to connect on a personal level and begin important dialogue between the new administration and teachers in the field. During this transition, dialogue between policy makers and practitioners is needed now more than ever.

Engaging with the 50 State Teachers of the Year is also an important opportunity for the Secretary and the Department. Each of these educators is a well-regarded, opinion leader in his or her state and is afforded unique opportunities to speak and share his or her thoughts. We found that hearing directly from the Secretary in years past, and sharing our experiences with staff at the Department had far more impact on our understanding of national priorities than reading alone could ever provide. Those experiences opened doors to more interactions with the Department as STOYs, through Teach to Lead, and ultimately to our roles working directly with and on behalf of the Department.

We are currently in discussion with staff at CCSSO and members of the Educator Engagement at ED about the possibility of hosting the STOYs on or around April 27. We hope that you support this effort and participate in this discussion. We also hope you will also encourage the Secretary to take time to welcome the STOYs to ED and to accept the opportunity to address the group directly.

Thanks for your consideration,

Commissioner of Education – Johnny Key

Background:
On March 25, 2015, Commissioner Johnny Key was approved by the State Board of Education to be the chief school officer of the Arkansas Department of Education. Governor Asa Hutchinson recommended Mr. Key for the leadership position.
Under Key's leadership, the agency focused the vision on transforming Arkansas to lead the nation in student-focused education. The mission is to provide leadership, support, and service to schools, districts, and communities so every student graduates prepared for college, career and community engagement. The value statements and goals guide the daily work within the agency.
Prior to being named commissioner, Key served as associate vice president for university relations at the University of Arkansas System, a position he held since August 2014.
Key began his career in public service in 1997 when he was elected to serve as a justice of the peace on the Baxter County Quorum Court. He was elected to three two-year terms in the House of Representatives, followed by a tenure in the Senate that began in 2008.
While in the Senate, Key served as chair of multiple committees: Senate Education Committee; Arkansas Legislative Council Administrative Rules and Regulations Committee; Joint Retirement and Social Security Committee; and Arkansas Lottery Commission Legislative Oversight Committee. He served as vice chair of the Joint Budget Committee; Arkansas Legislative Council Policy Making Committee; Academic Facilities Oversight Committee; and Joint Committee on Public Retirement and Social Security Programs.
Key graduated from Gurdon High School and received a Bachelor of Science in Chemical Engineering in 1991 from the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville.

California State Superintendent of Public Instruction – Tom Torlakson

California – Tom Torlakson (race is officially nonpartisan, but he enjoys support from Democrats)

Background:
Tom Torlakson was re-elected to a second four-year term as California's 27th State Superintendent of Public Instruction on November 4, 2014. As chief of California's public school system and leader of the California Department of Education, Superintendent Torlakson applies his experience as a science teacher, high school coach, and state policymaker to fight for our students and improve our state's public education system.
During Torlakson's first term, he set out on a mission to provide a world-class education for all students from early childhood to adulthood. He directed the change to rigorous new California state standards in English, mathematics, and science. He advocated increasing investments in education, helping to pass Proposition 30 in 2012 and leading the effort to give local school districts more flexibility to make spending decisions. He promoted the idea of meeting the needs of the whole child by expanding pre-kindergarten and after-school and summer programs, increasing access to health care and mental health services, and promoting nutritious food and regular exercise. Under his leadership, the state's high school graduation rate rose to an all-time high of 80 percent, with a graduation rate hitting nearly 95 percent for those students in career-preparation programs.
During his tenure in the California State Legislature, Torlakson acted to protect education funding, improve student nutrition and physical education, and ensure school safety. He also championed legislation to increase funding for textbooks, computers, and other instructional materials, and promoted efforts to close the digital divide, eliminate the achievement gap, and reduce the dropout rate.
In 1998 Torlakson authored legislation leading to the development of the largest system of after-school programs in the nation. In 2006, he authored the bill that led to a 300 percent expansion in these programs—so they now reach 4,000 schools around the state.
Torlakson authored the Quality Education Improvement Act (SB 1133) in 2006, which dedicates nearly $3 billion to our lowest-performing schools. He also played a key role negotiating and authoring the $9 billion Proposition 1A bond measure in 1998—which has led to public votes supporting over $36 billion to build new schools and improve existing school buildings.
As the chair and founder of the California Task Force on Youth and Workplace Wellness, Torlakson has been a leader on banning junk food from our schools, providing healthier school meals, promoting student health and fitness, and combating diabetes and obesity among our children.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Born in San Francisco, Torlakson served as a fireman in the United States Merchant Marine, earning the Vietnam Service Medal. He earned a Bachelor of Arts in History, a Life Secondary Teaching Credential, and a Master of Arts in Education from the University of California, Berkeley. Tom lives in Pittsburg with his wife, Mae Cendaña Torlakson, a member of the Ambrose Recreation and Park District Board of Directors.

California is transitioning to new science general and alternate assessments. CDE submitted a science assessment waiver request to ED in 2016 that would allow the State not to have full science assessment results for multiple years as it transitions to new assessments. ED denied this request in January 2017, but extended an offer to CDE in March to submit a one-year waiver request. Although CDE seemed interested, the State has not yet submitted such a waiver.

Purpose: To brief Jason, and the political team, re: Truman Scholarship Foundation board.

Materials:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Background:
I have asked Phillip Juengst, who is a Truman Scholar alum, to provide a briefing Friday morning on the Truman Foundation Scholars. A few things to note:

1. The Secretary by her position is officially a board member of the foundation, which provides scholarships for graduate study. Early on when we were asked who would be her designee to attend the annual board meeting in the fall, I agreed to do it. Now that I am in a different role, I think it makes more sense for the designee to be someone who focuses on higher education issues

2. There was recently an article criticizing the program because of an allegedly disproportionate number of scholars selected who have worked for Democratic and liberal elected officials and outlets as compared to the number who have worked for Republican and conservative elected officials and outlets

3. Phillip and Mitch Dedert have proposed fellowship programs here at the department for Truman scholars. They have proposed two types, unpaid summer fellows and year-long paid fellows

4. apparently there are some folks already in the running for unpaid summer fellowships who are waiting to find out whether we will indeed be offering unpaid summer fellowships so they can make decisions about their summers accordingly

Jason,

Thanks again for taking the time to meet with the Fellows yesterday. I really enjoyed the conversation, and I'd love to be able to continue those discussions.

A big reason why I said "yes" when the Department asked me to take on the full-time Fellowship position this year is because, as an educator, I am deeply troubled by the fact that there are so many students across the country that don't get the same opportunities students get in my district, including my own children. I'm fortunate to work in a high-performing district that has created a successful choice system (my daughter attends a magnet that my wife and I selected as her best fit), but 20 miles away from where I live there are kids without those types of opportunities. As I enter the last few months of my time at ED, I'm feeling an urgency to contribute as much as I can to the work here before I return to SC.

I wanted to share with you the "next steps" items that I took out of yesterday's meeting so you know what I'm working on as a result of the conversation. They are:
Soliciting feedback from the current team of Fellows and the alumni network around two questions:
Where are federal programs successfully making a difference (including evidence to demonstrate that difference)
What are the issues beyond choice and funding that educators would like to see ED address/articulate a position on Developing a chance for you and other senior staff to engage with the Fellowship alumni network (similar to Amanda's Google Hangout suggestion). We developed a few ways to do this in the fall, with the easiest being a conference call with interested alumni using a moderated line. This could be a great way for staff to share policy priorities with alumni, which can be a useful way to build messaging in areas where there is limited or no media attention. The calls also proved to be a great way for senior staff to get feedback directly from educators across diverse locations and contexts. If this is something you're interested in setting up, maybe I could set up a time with you in the next week or two to talk out how such a call could be structured?

Also, I wanted to share two quick follow-up items based on our discussion.
In regards to the discussion of how it's important to have evidence of impact from federal funding, I thought you might find HYPERLINK "http://neatoday.org/2017/01/17/essa-title-ii-clark-county/" this article interesting. It talks about how Clark County, NV is using Title II dollars to address issues of teacher retention and quality.
As I processed your statement about being interested in federal programs that are working, regardless of the revenue stream, I found myself thinking again of the Title II Guidance support document that hasn't been published. The document seems like something that could be easily repurposed to serve as exactly the type of "best practices" set of examples you were discussing since none of the projects in the document have actually been funded through Title

II.....they are simply programs that could be eligible for use of Title II funds. As a result, the document could serve as a starting point to provide examples of how LEAs and SEAs are doing innovative work to develop systems of "professional development" that fit the ESSA definition of the term without using Title II dollars. If you think this could be useful, I'd be happy to take a stab at rewording the preface of the document to fit that purpose (which, of course, would then require putting the doc back through clearance, especially with OGC).

Thanks again, and please let me know your thoughts on the potential alumni conference call and the repurposing of the Title II document. I'll follow up with feedback from Fellows as soon as I have it!

Good morning,

This is a meeting to discuss OSEP's memo on Visual Impairments Eligibility Determinations. Additional details are below. The memo is attached.

Thanks,
Ed

OSEP Memo: Visual Impairments Eligibility Determinations
Audience: State Directors of Special Education, Preschool/619 State Coordinators
Description: On 11/12/14, OSEP issued a response to an inquiry for policy clarification addressing whether an SEA or LEA is permitted to establish procedures that further define the disability category, "visual impairment including blindness," under IDEA. Since that time, OSEP has received a request for written guidance to assist SEAs in supporting their LEAs in reaching appropriate eligibility determinations for children with this disability. The purpose of this memorandum is to ensure broad dissemination of the key points made in our 11/12/14 letter, provide the additional guidance requested on this important issue, and inform States of next steps and required actions.
Status & Rec. Action: Approval of the memo. Because of its very specific and narrow focus, it did not go through the typical Departmental clearance process.

Jason,

I write on behalf of NIEA and our Executive Director Ahniwake Rose to seek a few minutes of your time over the coming week or two regarding Native education.

I am familiar with your work in Maryland and am a Teach for America alum who worked with the KIPP founders in Houston. I promise that a short meeting with NIEA would be worth your time.

NIEA has over 1500 members across the country and are the only national organization working on Native education. We were founded in 1969 and bring perspective on how best to innovate to serve Native students well. We share the goal of tribal leadership and innovation in education. HYPERLINK "http://www.niea.org"www.niea.org if you like.

I promise that a short meeting would provide context on Native education that would be worth your time: NIEA knows the Native education landscape and we would be honest and constructive in working with you to find solutions.

I look forward to hearing if you might have 15 minutes over the coming 2-3 weeks.

Thank you,

Subject: Meeting request: May 2

Hello, Jason, Josh, and Ebony:

I would like to see if you would be available to meet with practitioners of Linked Learning and the National Academy Foundation who will be in Washington, DC from California on Tuesday, May 2. Might you be available for a meeting at 9:30, 10:00, or 10:30 on Tuesday, May 2?
In her remarks to the National Association of State Boards of Education, Secretary DeVos spoke to the promise and impact of Linked Learning. We believe this work has implications for federal policy (e.g., reauthorization of the Carl D. Perkins Career and Technical Education Act and Higher Education Act) and would welcome the opportunity for practitioners to share their experiences with you while they are in DC. That afternoon, they will be leading a panel discussion on Capitol Hill hosted by the Senate CTE Caucus.
As you may know, Linked Learning is an approach to high school reform implemented across California that transforms the traditional high school experience by integrating rigorous academics with high-quality career-technical education, work-based learning, and comprehensive support services. This approach also directly engages state and local business and industry, and higher education in improving and making relevant the high school education experience.
The latest HYPERLINK "https://www.sri.com/sites/default/files/publications/lly7_executive_summary_0.pdf"evaluation of the Linked Learning approach includes a first-time look at end-of-high school outcomes for students in Linked Learning pathways and shows that students enrolled in certified Linked Learning pathways are outperforming their peers enrolled in traditional high school programs in the following areas:

· Linked Learning students are 5.3% more likely to graduate from high school.
· Linked Learning students who entered certified pathways with low prior achievement are 8.5% more likely to graduate, and 6.4% more likely to enroll in a four-year college.
· African American students in certified pathways were 12.4% more likely to enroll in a four-year college.
· Linked Learning students report greater confidence in their life and career skills, and report they are experiencing more rigorous, integrated, and relevant instruction.

The meeting participants will include Linked Learning partners that represent the public and private sector, including a Linked Learning graduate, who can share how their secondary and postsecondary education, employer, and intermediary entities work together to sustain this work.

Please let me know if you are available to meet at 9:30, 10:00, or 10:30 on Tuesday, May 2.

Many thanks for your consideration.

DRAFT:

Talking Points DRAFT:

From Meredith:
Happy Friday. I'm attaching the draft of the National Urban League remarks for your review and edits. Sorry for the length of this email, but two important points:
As you'll see, the deep and important history that you shared during our meeting greatly shrunk throughout the editing process. This was largely in the interest of time, since we only have ten minutes and the message we want to deliver is pretty nuanced. I wasn't sure we'd have the time and space these historical points needed and deserved. (Alone, they'd originally stood comprised about three minutes of remarks.)

Plus, Kim mentioned that there might be other themes (point #2 will delve into this a bit more deeply) that might be most useful in this audience, and in this context.

However, I do have a several-paragraphs-long version of the historical background saved in the supplementary document, attached here, should you want to expand that section again. This language was left on the cutting room floor of a once-3,000-word speech. (It now stands at about 1,700.)

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

I know that this additional context can and will be useful for other remarks, if it doesn't make its way back into this speech.
There's a somewhat new balance of rhetoric and policy in here – you can determine if it suits your needs. Kim rightly pointed out that my original draft wasn't responsive enough to the National Urban League's request for some information about the new law – including more on state plans, accountability, etc. We actually got some specific asks from NUL around ESSA, and I'm not sure we want to seem like we're avoiding them entirely.

So, I asked Kim about the most important things that folks in the room will want to know, and those top-ticket items are reflected here. I (hopefully)didn't throw us into wonky territory, or get too far away from what you wanted to do here. Still, about 77% of this speech is rhetorical, and 23% is policy. (Of course I did the math. J)

Again, I trimmed some of the loftier original language to make room for the policy, so we can add that language back in if that's more appropriate. Let me know if you'd like to tweak/subtract, or if you'd like me to research, or create new content. Very happy to do so!

Let's do it!

Today, their leaders told Kim Watkins-Foote (ED's liaison to advocacy orgs like NUL, who works with me here in OCO) that they'd like you to surrogate, so I'm sending you this to gauge your interest. Kim can work with them to get the Event Request Form filled out, should you want to accept, and, she has a solid working relationship with them, and could get you what you need in preparation for the speech.

Dear Secretary DeVos:

As President and CEO of the National Urban League, and on behalf of its 88 affiliates in 36 states and the District of Columbia, it is my honor to invite you to address our Urban League Affiliate Presidents and CEOs during the National Urban League 2017 State of Black America Empowerment Summit and 14th Annual Legislative Policy Conference, Education Policy and Advocacy Session, on Wednesday, May 3rd from 1:30pm-2:30pm at the Westin Georgetown.

The National Urban League has been dedicated to advancing civil rights and economic empowerment opportunities for African Americans and other underserved communities for more than 100 years. Through our network of affiliates, we provide programs and services to two million people annually. Each year, the Urban League Movement travels to Washington, DC to advocate for legislation and policies that impact the lives of the people we serve. The Education Policy and Advocacy Session will include approximately 60 of our affiliate Presidents and CEOs who specialize in education programs including STEM-focused extended day learning, family and community engagement, mentoring, exposure to college and careers, and advocacy.

This fireside chat offers you the opportunity to converse with our Urban League Affiliate Presidents about your vision and plans for the Department, particularly regarding implementation of the Every Student Succeeds Act. This session will also offer you the opportunity to learn about the Urban League's priorities for ensuring educational equity for vulnerable students, including students of color, low-income students, students with disabilities, and English learners. This will be an open discussion during which Q&A is expected. Please note that the session will be closed to the press and only our official conference photographer will be allowed to capture the meeting.

We look forward to working with you as we jointly seek to advance equity and excellence in education, so that every child graduates school ready for college, work, and life.

Director of Education Ryan Wise

Background:
Great teachers inspired Wise to switch his career path to education during college, and their significant impact on students has shaped his work in education leadership at the district, state, national and international levels. This work includes leading the development of Gov. Branstad's signature education reform initiative, the Iowa Teacher Leadership and Compensation System.
Wise's belief that all students can achieve at high levels took root two decades ago, when the South Dakota native was a young history teacher in a high-poverty, low-performing high school in Mississippi. Wise taught in rural and urban schools in Mississippi and Nebraska before moving to his home state to launch and lead Teach for America on the Rosebud and Pine Ridge Reservations.
Wise also worked to eliminate educational inequity around the world as one of the pioneering staff members of Teach for All, a global network of entrepreneurs.
He came to Iowa in 2012 to facilitate a state task force whose work laid the foundation for the Iowa Teacher Leadership and Compensation System, which was adopted by the Iowa Legislature in 2013. That work formed the basis for his doctoral capstone, as well as his role with the Iowa Department of Education. As deputy director, Wise managed the development and delivery of the teacher leadership system, which is the most ambitious in the nation.
Wise also oversaw policy, communications and a statewide expansion of Iowa Learning Online, a state-run program that provides high-quality classes taught by Iowa-licensed teachers. He built important relationships statewide as the primary liaison to the State Board of Education, as a board member of the Iowa High School Athletic Association, as a member of the Governor's Commission on National Service, and as a member of Collaborating for Iowa's Kids, a joint effort by the Iowa Department of Education, the area education agencies, and school districts to scale up evidence-based practices across the state.

Wise earned a doctorate in education leadership from the Harvard Graduate School of Education, a master's degree in public administration from the University of Nebraska at Omaha, and a bachelor's degree in history from Creighton University.

Appointed by Governor Submitting in Sept. Prior to assuming the role of the Director of Education, Ryan Wise served as a Deputy Director at the Iowa Department of Education where he led the implementation of Iowa's Teacher Leadership and Compensation System.
Iowa is transitioning to a new assessment. If the Smarter Balanced Assessment rules stay in place and are unchanged by the Legislature, Iowa would administer SBAC in the Spring of the 2017-2018 school year. In the event that Next Generation Iowa Tests are selected by the legislature, Iowa has proposed to award a contract August 2017 and submit documentation for peer review during the Fall of 2017.

Subject: Colorado Forum - invitation
Hello Jason,

I am writing to you on behalf of the members of the Colorado Forum, a 40-year-old statewide nonpartisan organization of prominent executives and business leaders who work to build consensus around good public policy for our communities and state. Education policy (both K-12 and higher education) and reform has been a top priority on our agenda since our inception. For example, Forum members supported – with one hundred percent consensus – use of Common Core, known here as the Colorado Academic Standards. The Forum helped create the Denver Preschool Program some years ago and has been a vigorous supporter of charter schools. In fact, several Forum members help found the Denver School of Science and Technology system, a public charter STEM network that has been extremely successful and remain on the Board today. Several of our members are also deeply involved in Teach for America.

Every year, approximately 35 members of the Forum travel to Washington to meet with Federal policymakers. We meet regularly with Cabinet secretaries, other administration officials, journalists, analysts, and diplomats. This year, we would love the opportunity to sit down with you for an informal, off-the-record conversation about the administration's educational priorities and how we can be helpful as "boots on the ground" in implementing ideas and policies.

This is a well-informed, thoughtful, well-respected group of Colorado business leaders, deeply committed to finding solutions to these complex issues and known for its ability to get things done.

We will be in Washington from Wednesday, May 3 – Friday, May 5. We still have some flexibility in our schedule but I will take the liberty of suggesting a dinner meeting on May 3 (Restaurant Nora) or a meeting at ED on the afternoon of Thursday, May 4.

You can read more about the Forum and our membership at HYPERLINK "http://www.coloradoforum.com" www.coloradoforum.com. Thank you for your consideration and we look forward to hearing back, hopefully with a favorable reply.

Warm regards,

Dianna May

Per Ebony's request, please attend this meeting to work through an issue with charter school grants in Camden, NJ. As background:

Camden Charter School Network is a partnership between KIPP, Uncommon Schools and Mastery that emerged after New Jersey enacted its Urban Hope Act;
Camden Charter School Network applied in 2014 for a federal grant under the 'CSP CMO replication' program;
Their application was unsuccessful, and ED's program staff (in consultation with OGC) determined that, per ED's non-regulatory guidance, the only geographic preference allowed for eligible applications was for conversion charters (i.e. charters that give preference to students living in the attendance zone of the traditional school when that school is converted into a charter)
ED also cited section 5210(1)(A) of ESEA, defining a charter school as a school that has a "written performance contract with the authorized public chartering agency"

The Camden Charter Network has an "operating agreement" with the district, but it had been unclear to ED staff (at the time of the program application) whether the Camden Network also had an accountability agreement with the state charter office

The goal of the meeting is to work toward a solution so that, moving forward, any non-statutory issues are addressed so that the Camden Network and others like them may become eligible for CMO grants.

Mr. Manalo:

Good afternoon! I hope this e-mail finds you well. Eric Ventimiglia passed along your contact information as the appropriate follow up contact for a scheduling request.

The SAS team is requesting to schedule a meeting with Secretary DeVos and leaders from SAS. The purpose of the meeting is to introduce Secretary DeVos to SAS and bring her up to speed on the SAS Education Value-Added Assessment System (EVAAS). A secondary purpose of the meeting would include explaining how SAS is supporting USED today.

The EVAAS thoroughly assesses district, school and teacher effectiveness, while projecting the future performance of individual students. The precise, reliable and unbiased results go far beyond other simplistic models found in the market today. EVAAS is being used statewide in thirteen states. Michigan conducted a pilot in 2013 and is currently reviewing the tool with consideration of possible statewide implementation.

SAS leadership will make itself available as the Secretary's schedule permits.

Thank you for your time. Have a great afternoon!

Prior to founding the Third Mile Group, she had seven years of research, policy work and leadership experience at the Education Commission of the States focusing on school and district leader effectiveness. Dear Secretary DeVos,

Just a quick note to thank you for accepting my invitation to visit Van Wert City Schools. It is my sincere hope that it better positions you to do the important job leading the most important department in government! I was also glad to hear that you will be spending more time in the near future with Randi. I feel like it is very important that we find common ground with all educational leaders from both sides of the aisle and from every walk of life. In the difficult moments in your work life, please remember those adorable sets of eyes staring back at you from underneath the table working on the concept upside down😎(my favorite picture from the day). One of our high school students interested in journalism had the entire day to blend into the crowd to cover our big day. She and I may have the opportunity to travel to DC to report our recent event to the AFT executive council May 8-10. Now that you and I both share a common experience. I would love to have further dialogue and see what you were able to digest from your visit to Van Wert City Schools. Please consider my request in the near future as the details of our trip to DC have not been fully established. Some people journal, I choose to make bold requests of people who have extraordinary responsibilities in government. Look forward to hearing back from your office.

Yours in Education,

Jeff Hood, (b)(6)

P.S. Express my gratitude to Ron Holden, he was great to work with and we appreciate the fact that he pushed to have you take advantage of the full day.

Subject FOLLOW-UP Call to Chief State School Officers - Alabama
Location Jason will Call Michael Sentance - (b)(6)
Show Time As Busy
State Superintendent of Education for Alabama – Michael Sentence

*Your initial call occurred on 4/28 – YOU would like to tell him that YOU would appreciate if OESE & OSERS teams could have a call with his team to discuss at a detailed level the issues they have had with ACT Aspire and their thoughts/challenges with assessment.

Background:
He is a graduate of Georgetown University, Duquesne University School of Law, and Boston University School of Law. He has a professional background that spans a variety of positions, including but not limited to, Assistant Attorney General; Director of the Governor's Legislative Office; Undersecretary of Education; Secretary of Education; and Senior Education Advisor to the Governor – all in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, a state that boasts one of the finest public educational systems in the country.

In addition, Mr. Sentance has served as a regional representative with the United States Department of Education in Washington D.C., representing New England, and as a consultant on education policy and improvement.

Outside of his career steeped in legislative affiliations, education policy and strategic education reform, Mr. Sentance enjoys horticultural gardening as well as reading and studying American history – particularly colonial era interests. He has said, "I'm fascinated by the people who were willing to put their lives on the line for an idea." Mr. Sentance also enjoys the writings of Ernest

Hemingway and F. Scott Fitzgerald.

A huge sports fan, he played baseball in high school and soccer (goalie) in college. He still roots for his hometown Boston Red Sox, Celtics, and New England Patriots and continued to play softball well after his college days. Mr. Sentance and his wife, Mary Ann, have a son who works in sales for the Oracle Corporation in the U.S. and Canada, and a daughter who works with emotionally disturbed children in rural Massachusetts.

Talking Points:

State Chief ESSA State Plan Bullet Points
Michael Sentence
State Superintendent of Education
Assumed Office: 8/11/2016
Appointed by State Board Submitting in September. Alabama's new CSSO, Michael Sentence is focused on increasing math and science scores.
Alabama's Governor was recently forced to resign. The new Governor, Kay Ivey, appears to have no discernible conflicts with the SEA in regard to the State's consolidated State plan.
OIG recently audited Alabama and will be sending audit report to State. The report will include finding that the State has reported inflated graduation rates. The State counted students who earned an occupational diploma (designed for students with significant disabilities) as graduates, when they should have been counted as completers, and has not properly overseeing the awarding of credits in local school districts to ensure graduation rates are accurate.
Alabama has conditions on its Title I grant because it did not include all required information on State and local report cards dating back to SY 2013-2014. The State has satisfied reporting requirements for SYs 2013-2014 and 2014-2015 and is in the process of developing a new website to publish all required data for SY2015-2016 and beyond.

Dear Colleagues,

Happy Public Service Recognition Week!

We want to thank you for all that you and every OESE employee contributes to our work. Our work definitely matters to the ongoing support and success of the education system in our nation. We also want to salute our colleagues in OESE who have been a part of that system, and who merit our admiration during this Teacher Appreciation Week as well. Please join us in the Barnard Auditorium for a special presentation to highlight our colleagues who were teachers or worked in schools, at some point prior to their time at Education. We will also have "a little something" to celebrate all of this—and hopefully put a smile on your face! We will also have the first of four town hall meetings to talk about the impact and opportunity for OESE to be a part of discussions related to the President's Executive Order to consider reorganizing and reshaping our programs and our work. We have a lot to accomplish—so please be there and don't miss out. We will capture this meeting by both Mediasite and EDStream, for those who are teleworking, or otherwise unable to attend in person. See you soon!

Dear OESE Team,

Greetings and Happy Public Service Recognition Week! Thank you for all that you do to serve our country!

In the context of the change in administration, the rollout of ESSA, the President's March 13 HYPERLINK "https://www.whitehouse.gov/the-press-office/2017/03/13/presidential-executive-order-comprehensive-plan-reorganizing-executive"Executive Order 13781 ("Comprehensive Plan for Reorganizing the Executive Branch") and HYPERLINK "https://www.whitehouse.gov/sites/whitehouse.gov/files/omb/memoranda/2017/M-17-22.pdf"OMB Memorandum M-17-22, all of us at ED have the opportunity to take a step back, reflect on our mission and our role, and work together to develop ideas regarding how to make our POCs as effective and efficient as possible.

To that end, we at OESE will hold a series of "Town Hall" meetings to brainstorm creatively and solicit and then synthesize into themes and sets of salient recommendations your ideas about our work. The first Town Hall will take place this coming Wednesday, May 10th. The purpose of the meeting is to begin the process to gather input from all OESE staff about how best to structure our office to achieve our mission. Working together and drawing on past experience with organizational assessments, we can use our subject-matter expertise to develop recommendations about organizational structures and policies to help strengthen OESE's and the Department's performance and results.

OESE leaders have been meeting and developing a vision for making this process as inclusive as possible. We also asked that your Program Directors include discussions about the core and essential functions of your program during your upcoming regular staff meetings. Here is a brief schedule and outline of the planned "Town Hall" meetings over the next several weeks:

We want your input. We will use your feedback from the individual staff meetings and the OESE "Town Hall" meetings. The Department has provided advanced notice to the Union about the OESE "Town Hall" meetings that includes employees who are in the bargaining unit.
We encourage you to provide your input, whether in the OESE "Town Hall" meetings, at your program staff meetings, directly with your supervisor, or through email. We are setting up a separate email address for this purpose. At the OESE "Town Hall" meeting on May 18th, the plan is to conduct a facilitated brainstorming discussion. We plan to structure the meeting so that there will be time for both general and program-specific brainstorming, to further discuss the ideas presented, discuss other ideas you may have, and respond to questions.

As described in OMB's memorandum, each agency, including Education, will send an initial high-level draft reform plan to OMB by June 30th and a proposed Agency Reform Plan by September 30th. This government-wide initiative presents both potential opportunities and challenges, and we appreciate your thoughtfulness, openness, collaboration and cooperation. Thank you in advance for contributing your best thinking and ideas to strengthen OESE and the Department.

Jason, Joe and Lisa,

Please note the change of room for your discussion with the students and leaders from Elevated Thought (Lawrence, Massachusetts) on May 11.

Here too are the topics they would like to discuss with you:

How their vision of education can be supported on a federal level (see their Youths Bill of Rights below; and if you can attend their art opening at 11 to noon the same day you will learn via spoken word, film and song what their vision is, Jason will speak at the opening.)
The challenges you see for their vision becoming a reality
The trajectory of public education from your perspectives
Eradicating outdated models of curriculum and school structures

The students and their adult leaders are so very grateful for the opportunity you are providing them to learn from you. I greatly appreciate you too, so very much.

Jackye

Youths' Bill of Rights

1 Students' Needs Come First
-Youths' voices are heard and considered in all school decisions that affect them directly. Youth leadership teams are created at each public middle and high school in the city, meet on a monthly basis, and lead organizing efforts for school improvements and initiatives as the need arises.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

#2 Students Are Liberated Through Their Creations
- Schools use a curriculum that promotes critical thinking, creativity, imagination, and cultural heritage, and that is pertinent to students' lives as well as individual and community progress.

#3 Students' Vision Is Developed With and Through Their Communities
- School leaders provide consistent accountability, equity, and transparency to all members of the community, including youths, parents, and community organizers. Through increased mentorships, and place-based and democratic forms of learning, students also have more opportunities to find out what they like and what they're good at during the school day.

#4 Students' Healthy Growth Is Ensured
- Schools provide nutritional menu options, healthy eating initiatives, and increased resources and information to foster healthy student growth on all levels -- physical, mental, and spiritual.

BRIEFING
Julia Keleher
Secretary of Education
Assumed Office: 1/25/2017
Appointed by Governor Submitting in Sept. Puerto Rico elected Governor Ricardo Rossello Nevares on November 8, 2016. He assumed office on January 2, 2017.
Secretary Julia Keleher, a former ED employee, was appointed the Secretary of Education by Governor Rossello. She began her term on January 2, 2017.
Puerto Rico is a unitary LEA system. The new administration recently discussed transitioning to a traditional SEA system; however, the Puerto Rico Department of Education has decided instead to place Superintendents in the seven regions throughout the island. The goal of this reorganization is to improve accountability and increase the diversity of programs at the regional level.
In 2016, Puerto Rico faced a massive fiscal crisis related to the amount of debt owed by the Puerto Rican government. On June 30, 2016, President Obama signed the Puerto Rico Oversight, Management, and Economic Stability Act (PROMESA), which created a federal oversight board that would negotiate the restructuring of Puerto Rico's debt.

CONDENSED VERSION FOR JASON

In 2001, I first served in elected office as a member of the School Committee in my home town of Melrose. This position was one of the hardest I've ever had, but it gave me a profound understanding of the difficult, sometimes competing decisions faced by policymakers, school administrators, teachers, and parents. I went on to serve as General Counsel for the Massachusetts Office of Child Care Services, and also as a member of the Advisory Council for the Massachusetts Department of Early Education and Care. Each day spent in these positions helped me understand the importance of improving how we educate our nation's children.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Early Education

I believe that investments in early education are critical to basic economic fairness in America. The evidence overwhelmingly demonstrates that young children experience astonishing brain growth, forming more neural pathways from birth to age five than at any other stage in their lives. Taking advantage of this phase pays serious dividends, not just individually in the short term, but economically in the long term. Studies have consistently shown that each dollar invested in quality preschool yields a return of roughly $7 over the life of a child.

That is why I have helped lead the charge to protect and expand vital early education resources. In March, I led nearly one fourth of the entire House of Representatives in formally urging House Appropriators to provide adequate funding for the Child Care and Development Block Grant, IDEA Act Preschool grants, and Infants and Families grants. These programs are critical to America's early learners and I will continue to fight to ensure their success.

In addition, I am a cosponsor of H.R. 3461, the Strong Start for America's Children Act. This legislation ensures that every American four-year-old whose family earns less than 200% of the federal poverty level is able to access high quality pre-kindergarten. This levels the playing field for children whose families cannot afford critical early education programs. This legislation has been referred to the House Committee on Education and the Workforce, where it is awaiting further action.

When the economy crashed in 2008, tax revenues fell, leading to financial difficulties for thousands of American schools. That is why I have written to President Obama asking him to include a significant increase in funding for Title I of the Elementary and Secondary Education Act (ESEA) in his budget request. ESEA Title I funding cuts to the heart of this problem, providing support to school systems that serve historically at-risk populations.

I've also urged President Obama to set our nation on a path to fully fund the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). As you may know, under this legislation, Congress promised to fund 40% of the cost of public education for every American student with special needs. In practice, however, Congress has never fully funded this promise—leaving local communities to fund this program.

While I support these critical funds, above all, it's important to remember that every student is different. While the federal government plays an invaluable role in providing resources to local educational agencies, it's equally important to ensure that federal policy provides educators with the flexibility required to innovate and support each individual student. As Congress enacts policy in this area, we must be careful not to utilize imperfect data that hinders ingenuity at the local level.

Higher Education and Student Loans

I believe that education is a great equalizer in our society. Affordable higher education is a critical investment in basic social mobility, economic competitiveness, and a vital component to the American dream. However, the cost of obtaining that dream has begun to outpace the ability of American families to pay for it. Today, the average American student graduates with over $29,400 in debt. As a nation, we owe more than $1 trillion dollars in student loans.

That is why one of my first official acts a Member of Congress was to cosponsor H.R. 1979, the Bank on Student Loan Fairness Act. This bill introduced by Representative John Tierney would cap the interest rate students pay on federal loans at the same interest rate paid by large banks when they borrow from the Federal Reserve. By making sure that students don't pay more than banks, this legislation would prevent the federal government from making a profit on the backs of struggling students.
Career and Technical Education
Education is the cornerstone of our nation's economic competitiveness. As our country has continued to grow, new industries have emerged, requiring our schools to adapt to the needs of the modern workforce. A robust, adaptable, and accountable system of career and technical education (CTE), including strong investments in vocational and technical training, is essential to America's continued prosperity.
The main federal program that supports vocational and technical training in Massachusetts is the Carl D. Perkins Career and Technical Education Act. Under this Act, states use funds to build strong job training programs in high schools, universities, community colleges, and other educational settings. These funds can be used in a number of ways. For example, some schools use the funding to buy equipment, while others use it to train new teachers or set up work-based learning partnerships and apprenticeships with local employers.
Every student deserves a fair chance to earn the skills needed to thrive in the modern economy. That's why, as a member of the House Career and Technical Education Caucus as well as the House Committee on Education and the Workforce, I'm working with my Democratic and Republican colleagues to strengthen and reauthorize the Carl D. Perkins Career and Technical Education Act. This law expired in 2013 and is overdue for an update. Our modern CTE system should be flexible to adapt to the needs of emerging industries, accountable to ensure every child has an equal chance to succeed, and robust to support the professional educators who move our modern workforce forward.

Purpose: Jason will call Mary, President and CEO Military Child Education Coalition, to discuss educational opportunities for military children and collaboration with the department. MCEC had an event at the Department(April 18th) and presented two quilts for ED's permanent art collection.

BRIEFING MATERIALS:

Our Focus
The work of the Military Child Education Coalition (MCEC) is focused on ensuring quality educational opportunities for all military children affected by mobility, family separation, and transition. A 501(c)(3) non-profit, world-wide organization, the MCEC performs research, develops resources, conducts professional institutes and conferences, and develops and publishes resources for all constituencies.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

HYPERLINK "http://www.militarychild.org/public/upload/images /10YearMCECPerformance_ReportFINAL.pdf"View our Performance Report: Ten Years of Excellence Serving Military Children.
Why Our Efforts Are Essential
Military children generally move six to nine times during their K-12 school years. Many make multiple moves during high school years alone, some even during their senior year.
In addition to giving up friends and routines, students must deal with other frustrations as they move across state lines or even from school to school, such as:
academic standards and courses, access to programs,
promotion and graduation requirements, programs for children with special needs, and transfer and acceptance of records.
Separation from a deployed parent (or parents) raises an additional issue. The role of the MCEC is to help families, schools, and communities be better prepared to support military-connected children throughout their academic careers.
Reaching Our Goals
To do this, the MCEC will:
Develop information to support the transitioning military student.
Develop and maintain an alliance of school districts for the purposes of communication and networking.
Determine the support military installations could potentially provide local districts.
Examine technologies (teleconferencing, Internet, etc.) and develop procedures to support information sharing between military impacted school districts.
Examine sources of funding to support the alliance.
Develop an action plan to implement the above objectives.

Executive Bio: Mary Keller
President and Chief Executive Officer
Dr. Mary Keller serves as the President & CEO of the Military Child Education Coalition (MCEC). She has been the organization's executive leader since 1998. The MCEC was recognized by First Lady Laura Bush in 2004 as the Congressional Club Charity of the Year and in 2008, was certified America's Best Charity by Independent Charities of America.
Dr. Keller was one of the founders of the Military Child Education Coalition, the nation's only non-profit organization that serves around the world as an advocate for military children as they strive to meet the challenges of frequent transitions, parental deployments, loss and trauma.
Mary has served as a teacher and school administrator in several Texas school districts for over 21 years. She served for eight years as assistant superintendent and area superintendent for education services for the Killeen Independent School District, which today serves over 20,000 military connected children and the nation's largest military installation, Fort Hood.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Mary was born on the High Plains of Texas (Plainview) and graduated from Wayland Baptist University in 1979 with a degree in Elementary Education. Cecelia Firethunder – the Oglala Education Consortium Director. She is interested in speaking to someone here about an alternative accountability system for K-12 education.

BRIEFING MATERIALS:

The purpose of this proposal for a Oglala Sioux Tribe alternative accountability system is to enable the Oglala Lakota to exercise greater control over its schools and the education provided to Lakota students. The basis of an alternative accountability system is rooted in the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (ESEA), passed as Public Law 107-110 and commonly known as the No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 (NCLB). Conceived as an alternative to the "[Interior] Secretary's Definition of Adequate Yearly Progress" under 20 U.S.C. § 6316(b)(2)(G), tribal consultation and negotiated rulemaking established both the accountability system to be used by the Bureau of Indian Education, as well as the ability of tribes to develop and use an alternative to Interior regulations (25 C.F.R. Section 30.104 et seq.). The Oglala Sioux tribe wishes to pursue this

On December 10, 2015, President Obama signed into law the Every Student Succeeds Act (ESSA), which reauthorized the ESEA. Though the reauthorized law presented many changes to accountability in education, many principles of accountability remained the same. Tribes may still request to use "alternative standards, assessments, and an accountability system," under ESSA Section 8204(c)(2), and the principle of an alternative accountability system still remains in effect in the Interior's own regulations (i.e., 25 C.F.R. Section 30.104 et seq.). As specific regulations and guidance regarding accountability systems under the ESSA are developed by the U.S. Department of Education (ED), the accountability system of the Oglala Lakota will continue to evolve in future accountability proposals.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Subject: FY17 OPR: Department Priorities for OESE

Mark,

I did a line-by-line comparison of what we submitted and what Ashley returned to us. They're identical. I also went an extra step and ran the language by each of the responsible offices. Angela Hernandez-Marshall in OIE made one minor change. In the text, we used the phrase office director in one place and program director in another. She changed it to program director to be consistent throughout (see below in red).

Alex Sweeney had to leave due to a sick child, so her team didn't have a chance to review the fiscal monitoring section, but they reviewed it previously and didn't make any changes, so I'm assuming it's okay.

Lori

Josh,

Laura Rigas suggested I connect with you about a technical problem one of our LEA's encountered trying to upload a magnet school grant application. The headlines are that the Springfield district office began uploading the application well in advance of the deadline, but they encountered technical challenges that HYPERLINK "http://grants.gov/"Grants.Gov had not previously seen and was unable to resolve; the application was nonetheless submitted before the deadline and an email confirmation receipt was received, but an unknown error kicked the application back a few minutes later. I am often on the receiving end of these emails, so I know that sometimes the only answer is: sorry about that! I don't have firsthand knowledge of what occurred and I don't know if this fact situation implies user error on our end. Nevertheless, if you're open to it, I'd appreciate the opportunity to send you some more information and perhaps schedule a brief phone call with you or someone else you suggest.

Thank you for your consideration.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

We look forward to seeing everyone there!

Teleworking During Town Hall #2
We have toiled with how to incorporate employees who may be teleworking on Thursday, but want to participate in the Town Hall. After considering many options, we have concluded—along with our facilitators from the Partnership for Public Service—that there is no easy way to do this. To ensure a quality experience for both those who are in the room, and those who are not …we will not have a virtual option. We encourage you to send your ideas, questions and concerns by COB Wednesday—based on the brainstorming questions that will be provided on Tuesday (email to follow).
The email address is HYPERLINK "mailto:OESE@ed.gov"OESE@ed.gov and use the subject line "OESE Feedback".

We will take what you send us, and filter it into the conversations being held by topic, program and other interest points. We have also been thinking about how to design the Town Hall so that we can capitalize on two things at once—getting to some concrete concepts and actionable ideas, as well as allowing for continuing conceptual ideas and designs that can still be incorporated later. We think we have a fun way to do it, and plan on having some structured "chaos" that will help us get to a solid product (or set of products) by the end of Town Hall #2. Translation: do all you can to be in the office on Thursday. It is going to be a lot of fun!

Feedback
In an effort to address the concern of anonymity, we are planning to place good old-fashioned suggestion boxes around the 3rd floor. We have asked OCIO for help in testing online products that will provide anonymity from any feeder source. This is taking time to vet, but we want you to know that we are trying to be responsive to the concerns about anonymity.
In the meantime, we are still offering the internal HYPERLINK "mailto:OESE@ed.gov"OESE@ed.gov email for your ideas and other responses. This email box is being monitored by Melika Anderson and Brandon in the Immediate Office, and no identifying information is being forwarded from the rollup of those responses. Since this is a shared mailbox, please put "OESE Feedback" in the subject line to ensure that your feedback gets incorporated.

*Town Hall questions will follow in a separate email later today.

Colleagues- quick reminder that tomorrow is the "Voices from the Classroom" event with the team of TAFs/PAFs. If you haven't responded to the calendar hold for tomorrow, please do so we can plan accordingly. Thank you!

Patrick

Please join the Teaching and Principal Ambassador Fellows for discussions about what we have heard as we have engaged with educators from around the country during the first 9 months of the Fellowship.

The format for the time will be rotating small-table discussions where staff will have the opportunity to engage in conversations with teams of Fellows around three major themes they have heard from the field.

The TAF/PAF team hopes that you will be able to join the conversation, and we hope you will bring questions and suggestions for future outreach efforts with educators in the field.

We hope you can join the conversation!

Ideas from Monique:

1. Bus Tour- Previous administrations did a bus tour across the nation. The Secretary would visit different schools and communities and senior staff would do events to amplify the Secretary's message

2. Education Town Hall Meetings – A series of town hall conversations across the country to discuss some of the most pressing issues facing education today

3. A National Reading Challenge – We could ask celebrities to help us promote a reading challenge, this could be launched in June or July amplify the importance of summer reading, and then do a ceremony for the "winners" in August or September

4. Books on Buses Campaign – Ask people to donate books for school buses kids, especially kids in rural areas, spend a lot of time on school buses it would be great to have a selection of reading materials on school buses

5. Back Pack Mania – Conduct a massive back to school drive for school supplies for students

6. Teacher Supply Drive – donations for supplies for teachers

7. Book Drive for under resourced school libraries

8. Academic Bowl (this could be applied to any discipline Math, Science, Language Arts) – basically like a quiz bowl

9. Robotics contest to help promote STEM

10. Back to School Broadway- Ask off-Broadway and Broadway performers to offer free shows for students who are going back to school

11. Back to school parade

12. Partner with HHS on back to school health fair and screening for parents and students

13. School renovation projects – identify schools that need help with renovation (i.e. painting) and have ED staff do the renovations – sort of like a habitat for humanity for schools

14. Build a playground – partner with organizations to help build school playgrounds.

Meeting Name: MEET: FY17 OPR: Department Priorities for OESE
Date: May 17th 9:30AM-10AM
Location: Jason's Office

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Purpose: To meet on FY17 OPR Dept Priorities

NOTE: Please see context below:

From: Ahmady, Lori
Sent: Monday, May 15, 2017 2:03 PM
To: Washington, Mark

Mark,

I did a line-by-line comparison of what we submitted and what Ashley returned to us. They're identical. I also went an extra step and ran the language by each of the responsible offices. Angela Hernandez-Marshall in OIE made one minor change. In the text, we used the phrase office director in one place and program director in another. She changed it to program director to be consistent throughout (see below in red).

Alex Sweeney had to leave due to a sick child, so her team didn't have a chance to review the fiscal monitoring section, but they reviewed it previously and didn't make any changes, so I'm assuming it's okay.

Lori

OESE[BM1]

1) Conduct High Quality Implementation of ESSA: Satisfy Critical Legislative Mandates and Provisions Necessary for Delivery of Core Components and Initial Phases of New Accountability System

December 2016: • Publish a Notice of Final Regulations for the Accountability, State Plans and Data Reporting regulation and two assessment regulations. • Issue a State Plan template and Peer Review guidance.

[NOTE: This activity was completed in accordance with the established milestone, but the regulations were rescinded, which necessitated the development and release of a revised State Plan template and related materials that were aligned with the new administration's priorities (see below).]

March 2017: • Release an updated and streamlined State Plan template that is aligned with the administration's priority of providing greater flexibility for state and local education leaders.

• Release a crosswalk comparing the original and revised State Plan templates, and revised Frequently Asked Questions.

April 2017: • Collect first round of State Plans and begin Peer Review and approval process. • Issue transition guidance for the 17-18 school year. • Create work plan to develop a program monitoring protocol that is aligned with the new ESSA requirements.

August 2017: • Complete first round of State Plan peer review process. • Prepare portions of the draft program monitoring protocol for review.

2) Develop and pilot integrated fiscal monitoring of formula grant programs

December 2016: • Select OESE offices that will participate in integrated fiscal monitoring activities. • Design training modules. • Develop information management strategy for coordinated fiscal monitoring. • Finalize protocols for participating formula grant programs. • Develop LEA-level protocol for subgrantee reviews.

April 2017: • Finalize training for program staff that will participate in FY17 integrated fiscal reviews.

August 2017: • OESE staff from multiple offices conduct coordinated fiscal monitoring events.

• Issue State reports and finalize plan for scaling up process across OESE. • Conduct evaluations of integrated fiscal monitoring activities.

3) Review and Reevaluate Opportunities to Transform Program Management and Delivery in the Office of Indian Education (OIE)

December 2016: • Select new Program Director.

[NOTE: A Program Director was selected and an offer was made and accepted in accordance with the established milestone. However, the January 23, 2017 presidential memo regarding the hiring freeze impeded OIE's ability to hire the selected candidate.]

• Review and evaluate existing strategic plans and program direction. Develop updated plans for the existing Electronic Application System for Indian Education (EASIE) to reflect necessary changes for ESSA.

April 2017: • Use FEVS results and follow up efforts to identify OIE staff-reported training needs and provide training opportunities to address them. • Assess baseline program needs and opportunities for current OIE leadership and future program management (pending hiring a new Program Director), using input from program staff and findings and recommendations from an ongoing OIG audit • Train grantees on new EASIE system [Moved to August based on delays in hiring a new office program director.]

August 2017: • Develop plan to improve quality of grants making, technical assistance, performance measurement and staff development OIE staff will collaborate to complete drafts of standard operating procedures for OIE formula and discretionary grant programs, and collaborate with Risk Management Service to inform drafts. • EASIE system finalized and Part 1 of grantee applications completed Offer EASIE webinar training sessions and post frequently asked questions and answers for at least 70% of all Title VI formula applicants. Assign staff to reach out to high-needs applicants, as identified through past performance, and either non-participation or training follow-up questions. • Train OIE formula program staff on how to offer technical assistance to all formula grant applicants, especially applicants who did not participate in the EASIE webinars • Pending an approved exception from the Secretary's new hiring freeze, re-initiate recruitment process to select new Program Director.

Meeting request from Jenn Bell-Ellwanger and Erica Johnson.

Meeting context:
We are planning to administer surveys to all states (and DC) and a nationally representative sample of districts in Spring 2018 in order to get a national picture of early implementation of ESSA. The surveys contain four main content areas: content standards; assessments; accountability and turning around low-performing schools; and teachers and leaders. The surveys also address English language learners (ELLs) and students with disabilities (SWDs) within each applicable content area. In general, the state survey addresses state policies, monitoring, and the provision of guidance/resources, while the district survey addresses implementation of state policies to see how they are playing out at the local level, district-specific requirements, and uses and usefulness of state guidance/resources.

Our understanding is that it made sense to defer administering the surveys until next spring, in part, to allow for some discussions with Jason, Ebony, and/or others about the content of the surveys, so that they reflect the administration's policy context. This meeting is to provide an overview of the evaluation and to follow up on that earlier decision.

Meeting Name: MEET: TAF/PAF Prep - P Kelly
Date: May 22nd 10:30AM-10:45AM
Location: Jason's Office
Purpose: To brief Jason on 60 min call with TAF/PAF alumni network on May 23rd

Context From Patrick Kelly:
The TAF/PAF Alumni network is comprised of the 103 former Fellows as well as the 10 current Fellows. They represent 43 states (map attached), and they are all still working in education in some capacity. A breakdown of their current job duties includes:

· 36 teachers (9 Lead Teachers and 2 in official hybrid roles)
· 21 school administrators (5 APs, 16 principals – including 12 TAFs)
· 13 district leaders
· 5 at the Federal level
· 12 in local, state or national education organizations
· 8 in teacher preparation
· 4 current PhD students (three in Harvard's EDLD)
· 4 consultant/other

The alumni network started monthly calls with senior staff at ED last September, and this call will be the first under the new administration. The call will take place on a moderated conference line, meaning that alumni will be in "listen only" mode until they indicate to the operator that they would like for their line to be unmuted in order to provide a comment or question. The format /agenda for this call is the big thing I want to confirm with Jason when we meet on Monday, but the general routine for past calls has been:

1. Overview of major upcoming events/policies/news from ED: 5 minutes
2. Senior staff discusses specific policy area: 15-20 minutes
3. Q and A with the alumni: 20-25 minutes
4. Wrap-up: 5 minutes

Patrick wants to make sure that format makes sense to Jason, and if so, what he would like to discuss in #2. Patrick shared a document with JB weeks ago (attached) that includes some areas that the alumni network expressed interest in hearing about, and my suggestion would be to try to address a topic or two off that list OR address something that is major in the news at the moment- which in this case would probably be either ESSA state plans or the budget.

We will be doing this call without Mike - he couldn't meet today. I'll circle back after connecting with the content of his presentation on choice in ESSA plans.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Jason, Mike, and Lindsay-
In advance of our call today (and hopefully with MIke next week) to discuss our session 11-12 on June 13 on ESSA, I wanted to provide a broad outline with some draft discussion questions for you all to address. Once we have a chance to connect and I have a clearer sense of what topics you all will touch on I will revise accordingly.

Introduction: Christy (11-11:10)

* Provide a brief overview of NAPCS federal work and key issues for charters in ESSA implementation (Title I 7% setaside, accountability, charter teacher credentials)

Panel presentations: After the intro I will kick it to you all to speak for 5-7 minutes before we transition to a panel discussion (11:10-11:25)

Jason: [draft questions] Can you describe for us where the ESSA implementation process currently stands? How will the Department evaluate the plans? What states are under review? When will states hear whether their plans are approved?

Lindsay: Why did Congress repeal the accountability regulations?

What are some key trends we're seeing in state ESSA plans with respect to accountability (goals, subgroups), participation/opt out, growth.

Mike: What are some of you key findings in state plans with respect to choice and charters?

Group discussion:(11:25-11:40)

1. As states implement their plans, what can charter schools do to ensure that new accountability systems align with their charter agreements and missions?

2. How can reform minded Chiefs leverage ESSA to provide more students with access to high quality charter schools?

3. TBD

Open for Audience Questions: 11:40-12:00

The meeting will be held at Main Treasury, 1500 Pennsylvania Avenue N.W. in the Cash Room.

Please plan on arriving by 8:30 a.m. in order to clear security and be seated.

When you arrive at the Main Treasury gates, please show your government-issued I.D., such as a driver's license or passport at the small gray security kiosk. They will check for your name as you have registered it and let you move forward to the Main building. Once inside, there should be an agent behind the glass to your left. INTERNAL ED MEETING SUPPORT
From: Salley, Robert
Sent: Friday, May 26, 2017 8:01 AM
To: Chism, Monique
Subject: BIE Interim MOA & Prep Notes For Meeting with Phil

Hi Monique

Attached is the current draft of the MOA. Please note that OGC flagged that under Section IV.C.4., we need to change BIE's reference to the Jan. 13 letter to the new April 10 letter.

Three elements in the MOA that OGC raised may trigger tribal consultation:

· Section III.B—The timeline for neg reg
· Section IV.C—Accountability provisions for BIE in the interim
· Section III.D—Provisions related to new tribal waivers

In regards to Section III.D—yesterday you mentioned in the meeting with Josh that we would not want to entertain new waivers. BIE has written this in the agreement and Jill flagged this as item that she want to convene with us on around a process point. If we don't want to entertain waivers, we would want to strike this from the MOA.

Points for meeting with Phil

· ACS Directive on Consultation—30 days notice and the subsequent comment period. If following the specific policy, this cannot done before July 1, 2017

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

· BIE indicated these changes to the MOA does not need to go out for Tribal Consultation on their end
· Your meeting with Jim Cason (transition team leader) and Tony Dearman (Director of BIE) is scheduled for May 30th at 10 a.m. (phone call).

Thanks,

Robert

P-12 Goals QPR Agenda_May 2017.pdf

Hello! Please see attached for pre-read materials for the Quarterly Performance Review (QPR) on P-12 (HYPERLINK "https://www2.ed.gov/about/reports/strat/plan2014-18/strategic-plan.pdf"FY14-18 Goals 2-4 // FY18-22 Proposed Goal 1).
We will NOT be reviewing these documents in detail during the meeting. However, given the purpose of this meeting is to conduct a strategic review of ED's performance, these materials are provided for your reference and preparation for the discussion.
Attached are:

The QPR agenda – Recommend reviewing in advance as this document includes identified topics for discussion in the Q2 data call.
2014-15 APR Performance Benchmarking – Provides benchmarking that shows how ED has performed on its Strategic Plan (SP) compared to how other CFO Act agencies perform on their SPs.
ED Performance FY14-16 Trend – Provides the overall snapshot of the portfolio both from a metrics and progress assessment perspective.
Goal Handout – Provides the same as the overall trend (above bullet) except it is specific to the goal.
Quarterly metrics performance to date – Provides information on quarterly performance metric data as of Q2.
Q2 FY17 FY-18 SP Linked to FY18-22 SP – Identifies connections between the current SP and the proposed framework for the FY2018-22 SP.

Show Time As Busy
Marguerite Roza, PhD
Created/leads Edunomics Lab, a research center housed at Georgetown University that examines K-12 public education finance & resource allocation; also closely associated with the Center for Reinventing Public Education (CRPE) at University of Washington.
Published/spoken extensively as an advocate for weighted student funding/student-based budgeting. Also speaks about the need for better standards for reporting financial data across districts & states to allow for better data analysis. Lack of useful data means very difficult to accurately describe the current state of resource equity in this country
Describes the need to connect spending to student performance. Wants to help promote most efficient forms of spending: low per pupil spend—high per pupil performance
Currently leading the Financial Transparency Working Group (FITWIG), which received some funding from ED; it's a group of ~50 SEAs & urban LEAs working together to understand/implement changes to comply with ESSA financial transparency requirements (under ESSA, LEAs must now annually publish actual school-level expenditures disaggregated by local/state/fed dollars)

Date: June 6th 11AM-11:30AM

Purpose: TBD

Education First: Is a national, mission-driven strategy and policy organization with unique and deep expertise in education improvement. It's mission is to deliver exceptional ideas, experience-based solutions and results so all students – and particularly low-income students and students of color – are prepared for success in college, career and life. It is a for-profit professional services firm with a not-for-profit soul.

Clients have included Achieve, Advance Illinois, American Federation of Teachers, the Cleveland Foundation, the William and Flora Hewlett Foundation, Thomas B. Fordham Institute and the PIE Network, Washington State Board of Education and Washington STEM. In 2009, the Gates Foundation hired Education First to lead a large-scale, multi-state due diligence process to inform its investments in teacher effectiveness, data, college-ready policies and advocacy. From 2009-2010, Education First supported strategy, applications and/or interview prep for Race to the Top winners Colorado, Delaware, Hawai'i, Maryland, Ohio and Tennessee. In 2011, the firm was selected to support the US Department of Education and ICF International as part of the multi-year, technical assistance grant supporting all 19 Race winning states. We began supporting Race to the Top Districts in 2011.

Leaders in 41-plus states and school districts—including Baltimore, Charlotte-Mecklenburg, Cleveland, Denver, Detroit, Memphis, Nashville, New York City, Seattle and Syracuse—have turned to us to design better systems. We have strengthened the strategies for many nonprofits—notably Aspen Institute, Complete College America, Data Quality Campaign, EdReports.org, Educators 4 Excellence, Educators Rising, Hill Center and High Achievement New York—and advised many foundations, including Gates, Helios, Helmsley, Hewlett, Edna McConnell Clark, NoVo, Oak, Stone and Univision. Because our mission extends to supporting deeper capacity in public education, we have published noteworthy reports, rubrics and toolkits on the Common Core State Standards, professional development, high-quality assessments, alignment of K-12 and higher education, deregulation and flexibility, and educator evaluation and development systems that improve teaching.

Sarah McLean, Chief Operating Officer, supports leaders across the sector to establish and assess their value proposition and better align their organizational systems, structures and resources to deliver the high-quality education all families and students deserve. This includes supporting organizations like the Smarter Balanced Assessment Consortium, Stanford's Understanding Language and SCALE define their strategic plan to expand their impact. Sarah supports Education First in a similar way, supporting a data- and discovery-driven approach to planning, supporting our organization to remain at the cutting edge of relevant research, practice and policy. Sarah worked as the Chief of Staff to Teach for America's national team that manages the organization's 50+ regions. Her relationship with Education First began in 2010 when she hired the organization to support Baltimore City's reform agenda, as Special Assistant to the then-CEO Dr. Andrés Alonso. In addition to her doctorate from Harvard's Ed.L.D. program, Sarah holds an M.A.T. from Johns Hopkins University and a B.A. in Communications from Penn State.

HYPERLINK "http://education-first.com/essa-opportunity-deep-collaboration-k-12-higher-education/"ESSA: An Opportunity for Deep Collaboration Between K-12 and Higher Education

"Buried in the long list of groups with which states are required to consult on their ESSA plans is higher education. Based on my review of draft ESSA plans released to date, it appears that states generally have included higher education representatives on committees and at meetings as they have formulated their plans. However, few of the draft plans released so far suggest deep collaboration between the two sectors. Teacher preparation is a notable exception, but in that case the two sectors have little choice but to work together."

"It may be easy for state education leaders to let the latest activity in Washington, DC become a distraction. However, now is the time for states to seize the new flexibility offered by ESSA—and promised by the Trump Administration—to focus on the long-term needs of their states. Through close collaboration, state K-12 and higher education leaders can craft policies and programs that increase educational attainment, close equity gaps, increase economic mobility and raise the quality of life in their states. There could be no more important work."

MEET THE NEW HEAD OF CAREER AND TECHNICAL ED? A Michigan state lawmaker aligned politically with Betsy DeVos on school choice issues - and who was a recipient of funds from a school choice advocacy group with ties to her - is reportedly being eyed as an assistant secretary overseeing career and technical education within the Education Department. Tim Kelly, a Republican who chairs both the House education committee and the appropriations subcommittee that controls school spending in Michigan, has done interviews with both Detroit newspapers saying he expects to get the appointment. Beyond his enthusiasm for measures like vouchers, Kelly's socially conservative views on LGBT issues have also put him at odds with Michigan Democrats - calling guidelines spelling out bathroom protections for transgender students "hogwash" in a radio interview. But despite these disagreements, some Democrats interviewed by Morning Education say they've found Kelly to be respectful of the legislative process and positively engaged on issues that he would oversee.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- State Rep. Adam Zemke, a Democrat from Ann Arbor who serves as vice chair of the state House education committee, said the two worked closely to update the state's educator evaluation system and boost access to hands-on STEM programs in the state's schools. Zemke said he think Kelly would do a good job focused on career education "Even though we don't see eye to eye on all things, I've always found him good to work with," Zemke said. On "CTE stuff and the STEM stuff he's been a great partner."

- David Hecker, the president of AFT Michigan, said the union and Kelly have clashed on issues such as teacher retirement, the future of Detroit schools and school funding. Hecker, however, said he thinks they share a belief that career education is an equal track to college and deserving of attention. If Kelly's really centered on career and technical education "he'll probably be a good advocate," Hecker said. If Kelly "wanders" into working on areas of school choice or schooling funding, "then you know we may have some problems," he added.

- Still, Stephanie White, executive director of Equality Michigan, said Kelly hasn't shown an awareness or understanding of LGBT issues, and she hopes he's had a chance of heart. "Any time somebody who has has these outdated views of LGBT people and they take on national roles, it's a concern for us," White said.

- An Education Department spokeswoman referred questions about whether Kelly would be nominated to the job to the White House, which declined to comment. Kelly couldn't be reached for comment. Gary Naeyaert, the former executive director of the Great Lakes Education Project, which advocates for school choice in Michigan, said if Kelly is picked, there really isn't any question whether he shares the same views as DeVos and President Donald Trump - at least when it comes to school choice. "If you're going to be surrounded by a leadership team, I think it's always helpful that they are rowing in the same direction," Naeyaert said.

GOOD WEDNESDAY MORNING, MAY 17. It's been quite a week and we're not even over the hump. So I'd like to inform you that the Architect of the Capitol installed ramps to make it easier for ducks to climb into the Capitol Reflecting Pool and the BABY DUCKS ARE USING THE RAMPS!!! SPEAKING OF CAREER AND TECHNICAL EDUCATION... The House Education and the Workforce Committee will hold a markup of the "Strengthening Career and Technical Education for the 21st Century Act," a bill introduced earlier this month to reauthorize the Carl D. Perkins Career and Technical Education Act. The bill seeks to limit federal intervention, streamline the process for states to receive federal funds and increase state flexibility in spending those funds, among other things. The markup comes as some in the education policy community expect the president's budget to partially cut grants to states for career and technical education programs, which currently total about $1.1 billion. More budget details are expected next week. Trump and DeVos have both stressed the value in career and technical education, noting that college isn't for everyone and it's critical to build a skilled workforce. Details about the markup.

OUTCOME IN LA SCHOOL BOARD SHOWDOWN: Charter school proponents in Los Angeles toppled the president of the nation's second largest school district and were outpacing another union-backed candidate in a second contest Tuesday, drawing close to claiming a majority of the board. The election, following a bruising, multi-million dollar campaign, marked a major victory for charter school proponents and their benefactors - and a setback for labor unions in the nation's most populous state. Board president Steve Zimmer, down nearly 15 percentage points, conceded to challenger Nick Melvoin soon after polls closed.

- The other contest remained too close to call, with charter school teacher Kelly Gonez running about 3 percentage points ahead of Imelda Padilla, a commissioner on the Los Angeles County Commission on Women and Girls. But in a tweet, Gonez declared victory early today.

- If Gonez prevails, charter school proponents will seize a board majority. Outside groups, including public employee unions and charter school supporters, poured nearly $15 million into the races, the latest in a longstanding feud between charter school proponents and teachers unions. The contests drew national attention, with unions seeking to yoke Melvoin and Gonez to President Donald Trump and his controversial education secretary, Betsy DeVos. In response, Arne Duncan, President Barack Obama's education secretary, endorsed both Melvoin and Gonez, saying the board needed "new blood."

STATE OF INDIAN EDUCATION HIGHLIGHTED ON CAPITOL HILL: Tony Dearman, the director of the historically troubled Bureau of Indian Education, is scheduled to testify at 2:30 p.m. today before the Senate Indian Affairs Committee. Dearman was named to lead the agency in the final months of the Obama administration after the previous director stepped down. The GAO in February questioned in a report how well the Interior Department is overseeing school safety and construction in BIE schools and how well it monitors the way schools use federal funds. In the report, BIE was identified as a "high risk" federal program with vulnerability to fraud, waste, abuse and mismanagement. The hearing is expected to address problems identified at BIE and elsewhere that serve tribes. Details about the hearing.

- In opening remarks, Committee Chairman John Hoeven is expected to call the inclusion of BIE school on the GAO's high-risk list a "serious concern." "We must increase accountability and oversight to ensure that our Native students receive a high-quality education," Hoeven will say, according to his prepared remarks shared with Morning Education.

- It's the second consecutive day that BIE schools are getting lawmakers' attention. On Tuesday, Yatibaey Evans, board president of the National Indian Education Association, told a congressional panel that some BIE schools go without air conditioning and have broken windows, wiring, ceilings and flooring. Her organization asked appropriators for $263.4 million for construction and repairs for BIE schools. "We're trying to figure out where to get the resources," responded Rep. Ken Calvert (R-Calif.), chairman of an appropriations subcommittee. "Obviously, our demand is a lot more than the $200 million you are asking for. It's in the billions. ... So, we're going to hopefully come up with a solution to this problem, but it's not for lack of trying." More from Kimberly Hefling.

ON DEVOS' CALENDAR TODAY: DeVos this morning will meet with Johnny Taylor Jr., who leads the Thurgood Marshall College Fund, a group that represents the nation's 47 publicly funded historically black colleges and universities. Taylor earlier this month told Morning Education that he gives DeVos credit for speaking at Bethune-Cookman University, an HBCU in Florida. That DeVos is somehow "bad because she's pro-school choice just doesn't make sense from a black education space," Taylor said. "It just seems odd to me that we wouldn't give her a shot." Graduating students at Bethune-Cookman booed DeVos throughout her speech, in which she said, "Let's choose to hear each other out."

- Later this afternoon, DeVos will meet with Robert Ballard, president and CEO of Scholarship America, a nonprofit organization that awards college scholarships to students based on financial need, among other things.

- And in other scheduling news, President Trump is expected to deliver commencement remarks to U.S. Coast Guard Academy graduates in New London, Connecticut, at 11 a.m. ET.

FORMER OBAMA OFFICIALS SIGN ON TO SUPPORT GAVIN GRIMM: Former Obama administration officials spanning multiple agencies filed a brief this week in support of Gavin Grimm, the Virginia student who's suing his school district for the right to use the boy's bathroom at his high school. The Supreme Court earlier this year sent Grimm's case back down to the 4th Circuit. The federal appeals court could decide whether Title IX, the federal law that protects against sex-based discrimination in federally funded education programs, also protects against gender identity discrimination. The Obama administration previously issued a directive saying that federal law protects the right of transgender students to use bathrooms that align with their gender identities. The Trump administration rescinded that directive earlier this year.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

- In a new brief, former Education Secretaries Arne Duncan and John B. King Jr. - in addition to a host of other former officials from the Departments of Education, Justice and Labor - write that their interpretation of federal law is backed by "a substantial body of case law and administrative decision-making." Each Obama official signing onto the brief "undertook an extensive administrative process to ensure that his or her department fully considered statutory law, legal precedent, regulatory guidance, scientific analysis, and the factual record in reaching their conclusions concerning the scope of federal antidiscrimination statutes," the brief says. "In so doing, each amici reached the conclusion. The Departments of Education and Justice determined that discrimination on the basis of gender identity constitutes sex discrimination under Title IX." Read the brief.

REMEMBERING BROWN V. BOARD: Today is the 63rd anniversary of the Supreme Court's landmark Brown v. Board of Education decision, which held that racial segregation of children in public schools is unconstitutional. The Thurgood Marshall Center Trust plans to hold a fundraising gala tonight to "raise financial support for outreach programs that represent the living legacy of our beloved Justice Thurgood Marshall," the NAACP's chief counsel who argued the case before the Supreme Court and was later appointed to the high court. More on the event.

REPORT ROLL CALL

- The National Women's Law Center says in a new poll that the vast majority of Trump voters believe the Trump administration should uphold strong Title IX protections and "promptly investigate reports of sexual assault and provide accommodations and services to students who have been sexually assaulted."

charter schools in the new Charter Schools Program? Don't miss out on opportunities for innovation and strengthening the charter sector in your state. Attendees will be better informed to monitor potential deregulation and also understand opportunities for innovation and flexibility in federal law. They will understand the changes made to the Charter Schools Program and its role in strengthening charter school quality in their state. Attendees will be better informed to monitor potential deregulation and also understand opportunities for innovation and flexibility in federal law and influence their state's implementation of the Every Student Succeeds Act.

OUTLINE FOR PANEL

1. As states implement their plans, what can charter schools do to ensure that new accountability systems align with their charter agreements and missions?
· Charters can't do anything to align their mission with the new state accountability plans. All students demonstrate that they are on track for college and career readiness and mastery of state standards. Individual charters are aware of ESSA accountability and understand what interventions are needed.

2. How can reform minded Chiefs leverage ESSA to provide more students with access to high quality charter schools?
· Under ESSA, we hope Chiefs will heartily embrace the inherent flexibility to implement policies that best fit the needs of students, parents, and teachers. As Chiefs exercise this flexibility, we challenge them to keep raising the bar. Excellence should be our theme and refrain. We must never lose sight of our mission: providing each child with the chance to pursue a great education within a safe and nurturing environment. I know States are ready to lead in a new way. Your success is the key to America's prosperity. We owe it to the rising generation to give them nothing less.
· We encourage SEA's and CMO's to apply for grants. With these grants we hope to cultivate capacity in states to scale high quality charter schools and develop new charter schools.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

3. Does the weighted student formula pilot (or FOCUS) create opportunities for charter schools?
· I am excited about ESSA's provision for a weighted student funding pilot program. Weighted student funding allocates resources to schools and provides school principals with more flexibility and autonomy over budgeting, staffing, and other decisions. In other words, funding is allocated to schools based on their enrollment, including student types, with higher amounts of per-pupil funding provided for students with special needs, such as low-income students, English learners, and students with disabilities. This approach can promote equity, transparency, and flexibility -- especially compared to traditional funding structures that keep most budgeting decisions at the district level. Under this pilot -- which we are discussing how and when to launch -- ESSA authorizes the Secretary to enter into local flexibility demonstration agreements with up to 50 districts, for up to three years, enabling districts to combine funding from up to five federal programs, together with state and local sources, to create a weighted student funding formula.
· The weighted student formula pilot would incentivize and encourage uniform per pupil based funding for public schools in any given district. Charter schools will be beneficiaries. The program includes a requirement that choice will be involved by allowing for a more open enrollment environment and discourages the use of attachment to zones. It creates many options for choice.

4. As states implement ESSA, what do you see as being the greatest risks for charter schools?
· As states implement ESSA, as in Title I, the greatest risk is to fail to respect the accountability function of authorizers and apply uniform accountability framework. This ensures that there is no conflict between state accountability action and charter authorizer oversight.

5. What can the Department do to protect charter school autonomy as states implement their plans?
· The Department continues to validate and affirm the authority of charter authorizers to apply rigorous oversight and charter accountability based oversight.

6.What opportunities for charter schools do you see in ESSA?
· The charter schools program was reauthorized. New provisions were included. It multiplies the use of funds of state grantees for replication and expansion. ESSA contains an evidence provision and allows schools to implement interventions. Charter schools are able to contribute to the knowledge base. There is rigorous evaluation under ESSA for them to identify intervention and satisfy the evidence threshold of ESSA.

7.How does your office work to include the charter community in ESSA policy and regulatory discussions?
· We conduct listening sessions with grantees at project directors conferences. We also publish notices of proposed priorities and programs under ESSA as we issue public comment. We have an open door policy. We encourage you to contact us as needed.

You're invited to the first ED Meet-up, presented by RecognizED!

Wednesday, June 14, 2017
12:30 p.m. to 1:15 p.m. ET
LBJ building – BE101

Andrea Browning (OII) will preview her yoga Meet-up by leading a brief yoga/meditation session. Following this kickoff event, RecognizED events will be held during the second week of each month starting in July.

Do you possess a unique talent or interest that you wish to share with colleagues? Do you want to learn a new skill or explore an interest while networking with your co-workers? If so, we invite you to be RecognizED this summer!

RecognizED is a pilot program developed for ED staff by ED staff participating in the HYPERLINK "https://connected.ed.gov/Pages/Congratulations-to-employees-accepted-2017-PTL-Program.aspx"Pathways to Leadership Program to harness the diverse and invaluable knowledge and expertise that exists within all Department employees. RecognizED is intended to create opportunities to inspire and learn from colleagues at work through peer-to-peer learning experiences. The program's overarching goal is to increase employee engagement and retention in the workplace and recognize employees for their unique talents while giving them the opportunity to display leadership skills and network with others. RecognizED encourages you to share your interests and hobbies, engage with your colleagues outside of the traditional workplace, and connect as individuals in a way that has been shown to improve employee culture and individual employee productivity.

Interested but can't attend this kick-off? Reply to this invite and we'll include you on future communications about upcoming RecognizED events.

Subject OESE Team "Stand Down" for the FEVS - Thursday, June 15, 2017

Location At YOUR Computer...

OESE Team,

In military settings, first response units (such as fire and police) and other critical operations, occasionally, events may occur that require everyone's attention. In those cases, a general, police or fire chief will call for a "stand down"—meaning, everyone and everything comes to a halt, to focus on something that is salient for the good of the order to acknowledge. On this coming Thursday, June 15th at 2:00 p.m., our Acting Assistant Secretary, Jason Botel, has called for a stand down, in order for us to focus attention on completing the FEVS survey. During that time, Jason is encouraging us to arrange our schedules and consider how we can devote just 30 minutes to the completion of the FEVS survey. Although the survey completion is voluntary and not mandatory, he wanted us to express how much he is looking forward to receiving the results of the survey, as the newest senior leader to join our OESE team. Please consider participating in the stand down, if you have not completed your FEVS survey before then. And many thanks to those of you have already done so.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Thank you,
Mw

BACKGROUND/CONTEXT

1. The transition to ESSA requires that BIE and ED established a new MOA in order for ED to transfer FY 17 funds. Therefore, we need to reach an agreement with BIE because ED cannot legally transfer funds on July 1 without a signed MOA.

2. The new law goes into effect at the beginning of the 17-18 school year and with the distribution of the FY 17 funds it is expected that implementation of ESSA will occur. BIE schools cannot implement ESSA until the BIE completes is negotiated rulemaking process. Hence any delay to the process raises concern for ED in term or our responsibility for oversight of the funds.

3. If we are able to reach agreement on the MOA, ED will release 25% of the FY17 federal funds on July 1 and then based on the agreements in the MOA will release the remaining 75% on October 2 if the agreements are met.

There are 3 unresolved issues between the two agencies:

1. Notice in Federal Register/selection of negotiators:

a. ED would like BIE to publish the announcement of the negotiated rule making process and inviting nominations for negotiators in the Federal Register with the final date for submissions of nominations no later than 9/1. This would allow the information about selected negotiators to be made public by 10/2, which was considered important for purposes of accountability to the public.

b. BIE would like to publish the announcement by 10/2, which presumably pushes back making the final selections to Nov or beyond, which delays the process.

2. Timeline for negotiated rulemaking:

a. ED would like a draft timeline for negotiated rulemaking from BIE prior to 10/2 in order to plan out the process. It is difficult to understand why BIE would be unable to produce even a draft timeline before 10/2.

b. BIE would like to share a draft timeline for negotiated rulemaking

by 10/2.

3. Issue Papers

a. ED's position is that issue papers are needed by 10/2. ED conceded that the papers can be in draft form but feels strongly that at least a draft version is necessary by 10/2 for practical purposes—the papers serve starting point for the negotiated rulemaking. Using issue papers for negotiated rulemaking has been a best practice at ED.

b. BIE suggested a draft timeline for negotiated rulemaking in lieu of issue papers by 10/2.

Colleagues

This is the kick off meeting for one of the FY 2019 Budget work group meeting. As you saw in my email (attached), we are setting up four work groups made up of political and career staff that will review proposals and develop options papers around the following areas: FY 2019 proposed eliminations or reductions, school choice-related activities, higher education programs, and career and technical education programs.

Please see the attached document which describes the timeline for this work group as well as key questions that will impact the final options that we will recommend to the Secretary for potential inclusion in the Department's FY 2019 request to OMB. During this meeting, we will discuss key issues in this area, policy and budget options that could address these issues, and work assignments for finalizing our recommendations.

While we tried to keep these groups small, please reach out if you would like to include additional members to these work groups.

If you have any questions, please advise.

Eagle Horizon is an annual continuity exercise that examines the federal government's ability to perform its essential functions, account for staff in an emergency, and evaluate reconstitution plans. The Federal Department's/Agencies (D/A's) are required to participate in order to meet the annual exercise requirements set forth in the National Security Presidential Directive 51/Homeland Security Presidential Directive 20 and the Federal Continuity Policy 1 (FCD-1). This exercise works to ensure federal D/A's are focusing on the Federal organizations' continuity of operations programs, while improving the agencies plans.

Please make every effort to attend.

Ron

Overview:
The Maker Movement is a modern approach to do-it-yourself that uses technology like 3-D printers, laser cutters and design software in the creation of new and innovative things. In recent years, "making" has seen a growing following in K-12 schools, as it's inter-disciplinary, can be teacher-led or self-guided, and hews closely to STEM fields.

Event:
The National Week of Making is a week of Maker events celebrating the innovation, ingenuity and creativity of Makers. This convening at American University on Wednesday, June 21st is the capstone of the Week of Making. The convening will feature remarks, an exhibition of Maker projects, and a panel on Making in education.

Suggested Messages:

• Happy summer solstice

Honor to spend first day of summer with some of most creative & important people in world

Making is commitment:
Analyze problem or need
Identify a solution
Execute the solution

This is the best way to learn
To teach
To make our country better

At OESE we want to help states and communities give all students the opportunity to learn this way

We talk a lot about innovation today. But Making is more than just talking about innovation. Making is actual innovation. You are creating things that never existed before because of your passion and with your hard work. You are transforming your ideas into things you can see, hear or touch.
• Making requires all the things that we know are incredibly important in education today. It's student-centered learning, it takes close collaboration with others, and it requires the skills that are necessary to succeed in career and college. Plus it's fun!
• We know that that the "Maker Mindset" helps foster a healthy curiosity and teaches practical problem-solving skills. But Making also teaches kids a valuable skill: the skill to fail.
• Makers actively challenge themselves and others to try something new and different. Anyone who's tried something new knows that you often fail the first time—or the first dozen times. Learning from failure is how we learn how to take smart, calculated risks in pursuit of something great. Making has created a space where it's safe for students to fail and to learn from those failures in order to ultimately succeed.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

• Remember to thank your teachers! Without them, and their willingness to spend time working with you after school, on weekends and often at their own expense, none of us would be here today.

MATERIALS:

Here are two copies with changes. The first is from last week's meeting, with all of Jason's edits. The second is what Mark sent Jason 6/20 with an update to the FTE numbers for core vs. non-core essential work, covered in questions 5.2 and 5.4. Mark polled the program directors again after meeting with Jason last week, to be sure that we had a better estimate of what FTE staffing is required to do our essential work.

Additional important, high level facts:

1) this is the largest bankruptcy of a municipal body in American history (second largest was Detroit in 2013).

2) The Department's risk management services visit the island quarterly because of its history of issues in dealing with federal dollars.

3) States are not allowed to declare bankruptcy like cities can which is why congress had to enact legislation to create a method for Puerto Rico to undergo this process. There is no case law or precedent behind how this process will work.

4) As a unitary education system, the Puerto Rico Department of Education is the Commonwealth's largest employer.

Subject: Update and background information

Good morning, Ladies –

Apologies for pinging you on a Saturday. When I realized that none of our earlier emails had any information about Esperanza and their extraordinary educational institutions – other than the very brief information in the scheduling form – I wanted to get the attached backgrounder to you as soon as it was ready.

Also wanted to let you know I saw Secretary DeVos Thursday afternoon at the Maggie's List reception at the Capitol Hill Club. Since she & I had met in the '98 cycle when she was Michigan's RNC Committeewoman and I was RNC congressional and public affairs director, I mentioned Esperanza and their schools, that we were coming into the Department to see how we could be helpful and invited her to see Esperanza's campus. (An official invitation will follow next week's meeting.)

I hope this is helpful.

Carrie – let me know what looks good for you. Tuesday and Wednesday mornings are both still open – the afternoons are booked.

Thanks so much, everyone … p.

1. Make substantive improvement in the Clearance process. Whether the ED-wide process or our own in OESE, we have heard loud and clear that the clearance process impacts most of our work--and often impedes efficiency and productivity. We believe that looking more intently at these processes will help us enlarge on areas and issues you have already pointed out to us.

2. Get serious about developing data management and utilization at the program level of operations. Beyond the discussion of improving IT, you have identified where there are gaps and opportunities in the ways in which we think about and employ data in our decision making and work. We talk "data" and we report tons of data--but your feedback suggests that there is a lot more we can do to invest in and build data capacity and infrastructure, so that data management really becomes a resource we rely upon to be smarter, and do our best work.

3. Strengthen the quality and capacity of our leaders. In reading through your many comments--whether ideas, concerns or complaints--it became apparent that a common theme and resource needed was solid leadership and management to help many of these things to happen. That is not a suggestion that we don't have any of that now. But that is to say that to build and sustain a culture of growth and opportunity for employees and our work--notwithstanding the challenges of occasional and inevitable resource constraints--will require our management to be well-equipped, invested and accountable to be certain that we are working in partnership with you to bring great things to the forefront. A commitment to strengthen the way we lead and manage is an ultimate commitment to you.

You will hear more details soon about resources we are setting up to create short-term workgroups to further develop many of the ideas you have given us. We also want to make clearer those ideas and opportunities that don't require any further development or permission--so-called "low hanging fruit"--that you can begin taking on to help OESE reach its potential and improve the way we work. Finally, we will continue to discuss and weigh options from what you have said to us, and what more we may put forward for the ED reform plan due to OMB by September 30th.

Thanks for your investment in the town hall process.

OESE Team!

Over the last two weeks we have been pleased that so many of our staff have participated in the "Like It" exercise—our follow-up activity designed to elicit staff priorities on the issues and ideas identified throughout the Town Hall process facilitated in May. We are thrilled about the results, and will share more about them at today's All Staff meeting in Barnard Auditorium at 2:00 p.m.

In addition to reviewing staff's input from the "Like It" activity, Jason, Monique and I have discussed our perspectives on the full range of ideas as they relate to ED's ongoing response to the Executive Order on agency reorganization and our own thoughts on how OESE can continuously improve on a day-to-day basis. We will be sharing the same and eliciting additional perspectives from our OESE leaders as well. We will provide a document soon that outlines our thinking about distinguishing the ideas and how we can move on making many of them actionable.

As you've likely noticed, the Town Hall process generated both problems and solutions; and ideas ranged from quick wins to complex efforts. Many of the ideas can be implemented by staff, team leaders or managers, while others will require senior leadership engagement.

Based on the staff-driven "Like It" responses and our leadership team discussion, we've selected three (3) main ideas to move forward in sharing with the ED reform team. They are not exclusive to others, but we wanted to make a first offering to be considered in the first draft plan that will be sent to OMB on Friday, June 30th. We will also develop working groups that will be facilitated by Michael Barber of Melco, Inc., to develop action plans for further implementation. Stay tuned for more information on this process and how we will engage

Thank you again for your engagement in this effort. We are confident that if we work together at all levels of the organization, we'll be able to bring your ideas to life and as a result, better deliver on OESE's mission!

Respectfully,

Mw

Context via Erin
Hi Jason! I am writing about Levi Birky and whether you might be open to meeting with him. Levi is a Truman Scholar and is interning with the PIO team this summer. In addition to supporting our Strategic Planning effort, I have asked Levi to provide a fresh perspective on how we share best practices, success stories and other related information across ED. As part of that work, Levi will interview leaders to learn about their work at the Department and their perspectives on performance management. Levi specifically asked about the opportunity to meet with you. Please let me know if you are open to meeting. If so, I will have him work with Carrie to schedule a time. Thank you!

Sincerely,

Erin

2017 Feds Feed Families Food Drive on 7/6 at LBJ
Page Content
Please join us as we kick-off the 2017 Feds Feed Families Food Drive
Date: Thursday, July 6
Time: 11am-1pm
Location: outside of the EDibles Marketplace
The Feds Feed Families Food Drive is officially underway at the Department of Education (ED) and across the federal government. ED is proud to be one of the federal agencies participating in the annual food drive. Through the amazing generosity of federal employees, the food drive has collected nearly 70 million pounds of food for those in need. Last year alone, more than 12.5 million pounds were donated and provided to food banks and pantries.
While many look forward to the summer months, it is also a time of heightened hunger and food insecurity. Food banks and those relying on them, struggle due to a drop in donations and surge in demand. As school lets out for the summer, children across the country lose access to valuable school lunch programs. For many of these children, there is no program to replace those meals they would have received at school.

Together, we can fill the shelves that might otherwise go empty. With your help, food banks can continue to serve those in need. Please join us as we fill boxes and feed families!

Event Name: EVENT: REMARKS: School Research Nexus Superintendent Leadership Conference
Date: July 7th 8AM-9AM
Location: Hyatt Regency

INFO

o The theme of the conference is "Art of Diplomacy"

o Rod Paige, former U.S. Secretary of Education will be a panelist. Other panelists include Alton Frailey, President of AASA (The School Superintendents Association), and Dr. Dan Domenech, Executive Director of AASA

Karen Stratman and Adam Honeysett (OCO) suggest Jason Botel (OESE) as a surrogate if the Secretary decline

Panel will be about 45 to 50 minutes, in front of about 50-60 people (incl 30 superintendents), moderated by Dr. Don Hooper, who is a former superintendent, former past president of AASA, and in his words, a very strong supporter of the Secretary and the President.
The subject of the panel is how to find common ground in education policy. Panelists may each give an opening statement. The remaining time will be used for the moderator to ask questions of the panelists.
The other panelists are:
Rod Paige, former Secretary of Education in the Bush admin from 2001 to 2005
Dan Domenech, current exec director of AASA; and Alton Frailey, current president of AASA.
Hooper recommended sharing instances in which the panelists have built coalitions, galvanized the community around an issue and/or overcome resistance.
Hooper indicated a sample question could be something like, "Describe the advice you would give to superintendents who are facing a difficult issue that is dividing their community."
This will not be an exhaustive discussion of hot topics in ed policy today—the expectation is to speak generally about coalition-building in education given today's social & political climate, in front of a fairly friendly & conservative audience.
There may be time left at the end for 2-3 audience questions, which will most likely be written on cards and submitted to the moderator.

Good morning to you Jason and happy Tuesday!

My name is Nkemjika and I am a part of Group 3 in OSS, leading the work with California and Tennessee. I have not had a chance to say welcome to you in person and thought I would share my morning chuckle since it pertains to you; I found it quite funny that every time I think I am going to meet you I am thwarted. J I have to share the list, because I literally did a classic "NOOOOOO" when I saw the meeting was changed:

- Ø I was on maternity leave from January 11 through May 3
- Ø A Friday in May, a California issue was presented to you at the OSS Update, however, I was out of the office
- Ø Yesterday, when you were doing EVS rounds(I sit on the opposite end of Ashlee and Denise, you didn't make it to my corner J), I ran into the hallway but you were already gone
- Ø I've come to the front to say hello and you were in a meeting
- Ø I was only able to attend the final Town Hall
- Ø I was visiting with Monique and she was going to bring me over to say hello but you were in a meeting
- Ø And now today the meeting was moved from tomorrow to today.

It is certainly a series of unfortunate events, but I am confident I will be able to say hello (and in person) soon; I look forward to talking with you at 2, have a terrific Tuesday!

Okay, here are the shifts:

--Jason is now speaking from 8:20 to 8:40 (including short Q&A), then Senator Hassan speaks, then session ends and Jason meets with IL superintendents at 9:00 (I'll be there to make sure he is guided to where the supers are). AASA is most appreciative and will mention tomorrow.

--Location is now REGENCY BALLROOM, not Capitol Room as his BP and the Agenda say. Upon entering the Hyatt, he takes the escalator down to lobby level (no other choice but to do this), walks across lobby to his left, then down two more sets of escalators to Regency Ballroom. I'll be there at 8, if he'd like me to walk him down (my cell is (b)(6)

Subject	Conversations About Leading, Transition to a New Administration Part II: What We're Learning
Location	LBJ Education Building, 5C100
Show Time As	Busy

Dear Excellence in Government Senior Fellows and Fellows, Prior Guest Leaders, Senior Executive Service Members, Presidential Management Fellows, Teaching Ambassador Fellows, Pathways to Leadership Fellows and Guests, Please join your colleagues around the table on Tuesday, July 11, 2017 at Noon for a Conversation About Leading on Transition to a New Administration Part II: What We're Learning
WHAT
In January of this year, just prior to the arrival of the new administration's staff at ED, CAL hosted the session Transition Part I: Preparation, the results of which are attached. Both the Partnership for Public Service and the Federal Communicators Network found our approach to and the results of that conversation to be a model for how to think about and accomplish a transition. As you will see, our focus as career staff was on building relationships with new colleagues to ensure the best results for our work on one of the most important endeavors of our country – an excellent education for all its people. At the end of the conversation on Jan. 11, participants agreed that we should have another conversation a few months later about the actual transition work's successes and challenges.

In that context and with the gain of six months of perspective, we will now engage in Transition Part 2: What We're Learning. This time, a mix of senior career and political staff will lead the conversation from their perspectives on the transition to date. The conversation will be framed by the following questions, for which we gratefully acknowledge Joe Conaty as the composer:

What went well?
What hasn't gone so well?
What would you do differently?
What would you not do?

The goal of the conversation is to gain lessons for going forward together in our work beyond the transition. Joe Conaty will kick off the conversation by responding to these questions and then extend the conversation to the rest of the panel. As with all CAL sessions, the participants will also engage in the conversation by asking questions of the panel and each other, and by addressing their own perspectives on the transition.

WHO

Jason Botel, acting assistant secretary, Office of Elementary and Secondary Education

Denise Carter, deputy assistant secretary for management, Office of Management

Joe Conaty, senior policy advisor, delegated to perform the duties of the deputy secretary

TOPIC: We would like to discuss topics that Secretary DeVos is pushing, such as President Trump's education budget, to see how we can be helpful. I have pasted below an op-ed I wrote supporting the president's education budget plan. We would also like to discuss issues of school choice, and, again, see how we can be helpful to the administration's agenda.

WHY TRUMP IS RIGHT TO CUT FEDERAL EDUCATION SPENDING
06/02/2017 by Lance Izumi

Real Clear Education
President Trump's proposed cuts to the federal education budget have elicited the usual howls of dismay and condemnation from the education establishment. Yet, drill down into the actual cuts and there are a lot of good reasons to put these programs on the chopping block.

Take, for example, the 21st Century Community Learning Centers (CCLC) program, which established before- and after-school programs, plus summer programs, aimed at improving student academic outcomes. President Trump's budget eliminates this $1.2 billion program. In response, liberal defenders of federal government education spending went nuts.

The liberal Center for American Progress (CAP) cited an Oregon after-school and summer-school program that it said would lose "enrichment opportunities that provide a well-rounded educational experience, including sports, art classes, off-site field trips, and vital summer school courses." While offering flowery verbiage, the CAP failed to cite hard data to show that this program or CCLC programs overall are raising student outcomes.

https://www.whitehouse.gov/sites/whitehouse.gov/files/omb/budget/fy2018/msar.pdf
The Trump administration points out that "overall program performance data show that the program is not achieving its goal of helping students, particularly those who attend low-performing schools, meet challenging State academic standards."

In particular, the administration points out that "on average from 2013 to 2015, less than 20 percent of program participants improved from not proficient to proficient or above on State assessments in reading and mathematics."

Furthermore, these programs have poor attendance, which results in poor student outcomes. The administration notes, "States reported that fewer than half of all students served (752,000 out of 1.8 million) attended programs for 30 days or more during the 2014-15 school year.

"These data," concludes the administration, "strongly suggest that the 21st CCLC is not generating the benefits commensurate with an annual investment of more than $1 billion in limited Federal education funds."

Previous evaluations of the 21st CCLC program found that the program was not just ineffective, but in some cases harmful. For instance, participating students were less likely to put effort into reading or English classes and were more likely to have behavior and discipline problems than similar students.

In addition to the 21st CCLC program, the Trump administration seeks to eliminate the $2.4 billion Supporting Effective Instruction (SEI) State Grants program.

The program, also known at Title II of the Every Student Succeeds Act, funds a wide range of activities. However, the majority of funds, 52 percent, goes to professional development training for teachers, while just 25 percent goes to reduce class sizes.

The liberal CAP worries about the effect of SEI elimination, not on student achievement, but on teacher salaries. The group conjures up the specter of "a loss of 40,000 teachers' salaries."

Yet, even the CAP admits that SEI funds "could be better spent" and that more effort "should be made to reform the program." That admission is an understatement.

As the administration observes, "professional development, as currently provided, has shown limited impact on student achievement." Indeed, HYPERLINK "https://www.whitehouse.gov/sites/whitehouse.gov/files/omb/budget/fy2018/msar.pdf"evaluations funded by the U.S.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Department of Education have found that professional development programs make little difference in improving student achievement. Independent research comes to the same conclusion.

According to a HYPERLINK "https://thejournal.com/articles/2016/09/26/report-builds-case-for-failure-in-teacher-pd.aspx"2016 report by the education research organization MDR EdNET, "The data also shows that neither teaching skills [nor] student outcomes are significantly improved by traditional [professional development]." Despite this failure, school districts spend on average $18,000 per teacher each year on professional development, which translates to $18 billion in total.

Indeed, if one looks at the 20 PreK-12 programs that the Trump administration seeks to eliminate, from the Alaska Native Education program to the Comprehensive Literacy Development Grants program to the School Leader and Recruitment program, the common theme is that evaluations and analyses show that these programs do not improve student achievement, have a limited impact or duplicate other government activities.

Thus the hysteria over defunding these programs is just that – hysteria. The world will not end and children will not receive a worse education if ineffective federal education programs are eliminated. If Republicans in Congress are serious about local control of education, then they must get serious about local dependence on federal dollars.

Subject: Follow Up on FLSA Discussion

Colleagues,

I wanted to follow up as promised on our brief discussion concerning recent changes related to the Fair Labor Standards Act (FLSA). As it turned out, what I shared with you was consistent with the information that Tina received from OHR--but there is a lot of additional information to unpack--and I realize that the limited content and context I shared may have caused some confusion. The upside is that some of the answers to the questions I did not have the details to answer during the meeting, may actually offer better options than what I may have conveyed.

To be certain that we are providing the fullest context and accurate details about this issue, I am opening the first hour of Friday's Program Operations meeting to the entire CLT+, so that you can all hear the details, ask related questions, and receive any information that OHR is making available for general distribution. That meeting is on this Friday July 14, 2017 at 10:00 a.m. We have also invited representatives from OHR and OGC to attend, to be sure we have resources to answer the most technical questions or issues that may arise.

Related to the general message that Patrick asked that I send to employees (and to which I agreed), I have been asked to delay doing that just yet. However, we plan to discuss this with all employees (and their Union representatives) at the next All-Staff on Thursday, July 20th. For those needing to approve (or deny) additional time beyond the normal tour of duty this week, I am asking you to hold on doing so until after our meeting on Friday. If you have an urgent need that requires your decision prior to Friday, please contact Tina to discuss the specific circumstances, and I will consider exceptions.

Thank you,

Mw

The full team of TAFs/PAFs will be in town next Monday and Tuesday (7/17-7/18) for their last gathering of their Fellowship year, and the team has expressed interest in seeing if it would be possible to meet with Jason and Ebony one final time. And in a completely ideal world, the team would love the chance to talk with them together- our conversation with them in February remains something Fellows reference back to as a great experience and conversation.

Hi Ebony,

I hope things are going well up there for you. I know from my colleagues how busy you are; however, I wanted to see if we could connect about the weighted student funding pilot authorized under ESSA. As you know, this is a huge opportunity for the Department to expand choice within school districts across the country. And, for the 2019-20 school year, the Department can open up this approach to all districts nationwide, as long as a significant majority of the pilots are successful by the end of the 2018-19 school year. So, this creates some urgency to open up the application process in time for the 2018-19 school year.

We have looked closely at the pilot language and would like to chat with you about how the Department can make the pilot extremely attractive to districts, whether there is additional money on the table or not.

We have also reached out to Jason Botel but haven't heard back from him yet. We could also speak with Christopher Rinkus or someone else you suggest, if you could provide the contact information.

At your convenience, can we please schedule a time to speak or meet?

Thanks very much,

Matthew

Similar to the Coordinating Council on Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, according to 42 U.S. Code § 11312, membership on USICH includes "the Secretary of Education, or the designee of the Secretary."
They are asking who is designated to represent Sec. Devos when she cannot or does not attend a principal's meeting. For the Coordinating Council, the designee was normally the OESE political DAS, i.e. Jonathan Bryce normally served this role.
John King served as co-chair of USICH, so he more regularly attended the principals meeting. John is on leave or I would ask him who the designee was in years past.

Show Time As Busy

Dear Colleagues,

You are cordially invited to the end of the year celebration for the 2016 Teaching and Principal Fellows. This year's Fellows have conducted outreach to more than 12,000 people in all 50 states, led and supported the work of Teach to Lead, supported the work of POCs across the agency, contributed to ED's digital engagement through social media and the Teachers Edition, conducted Equity Labs, and continued the growth of the program.

This celebration is also a thank to the many staff at ED that have recognized the need for the Fellows' expertise in our work and have engaged in a variety of ways with these 10 impressive educators.

We hope you can join us for cake, music, and a send-off from ED Leadership. Please forward to anyone I may have missed.

Best,
Celeste

P.S. Let me know if you are interested in sharing any words about a Fellow during the celebration or are interested in bringing additional treats.

CONTEXT FROM STEFAN

For our discussion at 4 pm, I am attaching the version of the DCL that I sent to Ebony and Bob on 7/6, as well as a version that retains some of the outstanding comments and edits from OGC (which will be topics for discussion at our meeting).

As I see it, the purpose of our discussion is to ensure that we have a shared understanding, prior to ED clearance, of the following: a) the flexibilities ED is offering; b) the process though which those flexibilities will be extended; and c) the timeline that ED will commit to for both issuance of the letter and, if necessary, processing state requests. Here are some initial questions for discussion:

Authorization: must this be accomplished through an amendment request or blanket approval?
Definitions: include in letter or separate template?
Is the waiver of the limitation of one subgrant necessary for new replication and expansion activities?
Should we also provide flexibility to extend subgrant periods to 5 years (CSP does not recommend)?

Thanks, and look forward to our discussion this afternoon.

Hi Ebony and Bob:
Attached is a draft of a DCL that Jason Botel requested OII prepare related to CSP. The purpose of the letter is to extend ESSA flexibilities to pre-ESSA grants, through an expedited grant amendment process. I shared the letter with OGC and Budget Services and their feedback is incorporated in the letter. There are still some issues and questions which remain, which include:
Authorization: must this be accomplished through an amendment request or blanket approval?
Definitions: include in letter or separate template?
Is the waiver of the limitation of one subgrant necessary for new replication and expansion activities?
Should we also provide flexibility to extend subgrant periods to 5 years (CSP does not recommend)?

To advance this forward, I recommend that we arrange a meeting with the two of you, OGC Cathy Grimes-Miller and Dennis Koeppel), and Budget Services (Bill Cordes and Kelly Rhoads), to resolve some of the remaining items. Following that meeting we should revise the letter and enter into clearance. Can each of you review this letter and let me know if you have any immediate questions or feedback? Should I schedule the meeting, or will someone from your team? In the meantime, please feel free to reach out if you have any questions or need clarification.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Educator Support Framework 6-27.pdf

ED Colleagues,

On July 19th, the 2016 team of Teaching and Principal Ambassador Fellows will be hosting a capstone event for our Fellowship year. The Convening on Systems of Support for Excellent Teaching and Leading will seek to build on the Fellows' work this year through the development of a framework to assess the alignment of systems of support for educators to core principles that have been identified through outreach and research. The draft framework, which will be revised and developed throughout the day on the 19th, is attached.

The Fellows have worked with CCSSO on the development of the agenda (draft attached) for the day. Participants in the convening will include teachers and administrators that have worked on educator supports through Teach to Lead, representatives from Teach to Lead supporting organizations, and staff from several SEAs and LEAs.

We would love to have as much participation from staff at ED as possible throughout the day. This could simply involve stopping by Barnard to observe whatever part of the convening your schedule will allow, or, if you have available time, we would love to plug you into the work that is occurring during the event. If you are interested in joining a work group during the day, please let me know so we can plan accordingly in our planning.

Please let me know if you have any questions about the convening, and please feel free to send this calendar hold to anyone that you would like within ED.

Thanks so much, and the TAF/PAF team hopes to see you on the 19th!

Senior Leaders,
We would like to extend an official invitation to the second Recovery Support Function Leadership Group (RSFLG) Quarterly Meeting to take place on Thursday, July 20, from 1:00-2:30 p.m. at the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) Headquarters.
Mr. Corey Gruber, FEMA Acting Associate Administrator for the Office of Response and Recovery, will chair the meeting. Several topics slated to be presented for review and decision include an update on the Recovery Support Function Capability Enhancement Project (RSF CEP), Housing RSF highlights from the RSF CEP, and a discussion on supplemental disaster appropriations.
We are also pleased to share with you that our new FEMA Administrator, Mr. Brock Long, and the National Security Council's Senior Director for Resilience and Response Policy, Mr. Doug Fears, will attend and take this opportunity to address the RSFLG.
Senior Leaders are welcome to bring an additional guest to the meeting. Due to limited space, we ask that each Department or Agency RSVP by COB Tuesday, July 18th to HYPERLINK "mailto:RSFLG@fema.dhs.gov"RSFLG@fema.dhs.gov. Please note that if you or your Action Officer have already responded with the status of your D/A's representation, you do not need to do so a second time.
Read ahead materials will be distributed shortly. If you have any questions, please reach out to HYPERLINK "mailto:RSFLG@fema.dhs.gov"RSFLG@fema.dhs.gov.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

To: Chism, Monique
Cc: Rooney, Patrick
Subject: Michael Thomas v. Department of Education

Hi Monique:

I've already mentioned this to Patrick, but I also wanted to alert you that Michael Thomas has filed a lawsuit related to the Department's decision in response to his requests for discretionary review of the New York State Education Department's (NYSED's) resolution of three complaints filed by Mr. Thomas regarding compliance with Title I schoolwide program requirements in a New York City high school. As you may recall, Mr. Thomas submitted three separate requests for discretionary review of NYSED decisions regarding allegations that the Manhattan Center for Science and Mathematics (MCSM) was not in compliance with certain requirements applicable to schoolwide programs under Title I, including the schoolwide supplement not supplant requirement. Because all three complaints involved similar issues at MCSM, we consolidated the appeals and ultimately issued a decision in June 2016. Shortly thereafter, NYSED contacted us indicating that the Department had previously issued a decision in one of the complaints (it appears this went into OESE clearance in error). As result, we made the decision to withdraw the portion of the June 2016 that addressed that particular complaint. This was done via letter to the parties in February 2016. In his lawsuit, filed in the U.S. District Court for the Southern District of New York, Mr. Thomas asserts that the Department's decision was arbitrary and capricious. (See the attached complaint for more information.) I note that he has brought this case pro se (i.e., he is representing himself).

We now have 60 days from the date of service (which we've determined is June 23 based on the date the U.S Attorney's office was served) to respond to the complaint though we may ask for additional time to respond given vacation schedules over the summer. Regarding the Department's response, I have had preliminary discussions with Ellen Blain, the Assistant U.S. Attorney assigned to this case, about potential motions to dismiss. At this point, no immediate action is required and I understand that you currently are on vacation (enjoy!). Once you return to the office, however, it may make sense to brief Jason on this matter. In the meantime, I will be sending litigation holds to you and others that may have records relevant to this matter, which is standard practice in any litigation.

As always, don't hesitate to let me know if you have any questions or would like to discuss anything related to this matter.

Thanks,
Mike

CONTEXT
Here are some questions we have – we thought it might help to send them in advance. –Mary Cassell

Content of the state plans
What are the areas where ED is most concerned? And most satisfied?
How well have States demonstrated that their accountability systems will not mask the outcomes of disadvantaged subgroups of students

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

(e.g. through the use of super subgroups, average scale scores, or ratings that don't include the performance of individual subgroups)?
What have been the challenges in determining how well States are planning to support their lowest performing schools?

Looking ahead
How is ED incorporating lessons learned for the second round in September?
What are the plans for ongoing technical assistance?
Has ED determined what (if any) additional guidance it plans on releasing?

Restructuring Indian Education for Better Outcomes
Issue: Briefly describe the issue you want to address, including all agencies affected.
The current Federal approach to Indian Education, which involves complex relationships among students and families, schools, Local Education Agencies, State Education Agencies, Tribal governments, the Department of the Interior, and the Department of Education, is failing to prepare Native American students for college or career success.
There are more than 47,000 students across the Bureau of Indian Education (Department of Interior) system, which includes 130 Tribally-operated schools and 53 Bureau-operated schools. The schools managed by BIE perform at very low levels, and fulfilling ED's responsibilities vis a vis BIE is much more cumbersome than fulfilling its responsibilities vis a vis SEAs.
What: Briefly describe options you see to address the issue and the outcomes you would hope to achieve.
In order to empower Tribes to lead their students to achieve at higher levels and in order to make the federal government's work related to education with Tribal communities more efficient and effective, we propose partnering with Tribes to establish a non-federal entity that serves the role of an SEA for all Tribally managed schools and then transferring to Tribes the management of all schools currently managed by BIE.

Proposal Title: Reform the Workforce Innovation and Opportunity Act (WIOA) Title I Youth Program
Issue: Briefly describe the issue you want to address, including all agencies affected.
Though Congress made some improvements in the U.S. Department of Labor's (DOL's) $873 million youth program with the enactment of WIOA in 2014, additional reforms are needed to eliminate duplication, reduce administrative costs, improve the program's management, and deliver better value for American taxpayers by transferring the program to the U.S. Department of Education (ED).
What: Briefly describe options you see to address the issue and the outcomes you would hope to achieve.
Our proposed reforms would focus the program exclusively on out-of-school youth (OSY), remove local boards from the administration of the program, reduce the amounts spent on administrative costs, and transfer the program to ED. These reforms are intended to increase the amount of funds available to serve OSY and improve the program's performance.

Proposal Title: Reinvest Funds for the Reintegrating Ex-Offenders Program in Adult Ed and Postsecondary Technical Education for Incarcerated Adults
Issue: Briefly describe the issue you want to address, including all agencies affected.
A random assignment evaluation published in December 2016 concluded that the U.S. Department of Labor's (DOL's) $88 million Reintegration of Ex-Offenders (RExO) program (also known as Reentry Employment Opportunities or REO) was ineffective, finding that the program had no impact on recidivism or the labor market outcomes of participants. We recommend redirecting funds appropriated for this program to a new program administered by the Office of Correctional Education in the U.S. Department of Education (ED) that would provide adult education and postsecondary technical education to offenders immediately prior to and following their release.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Attendees:

Ellen Fern (Policy Consultant to the National Writing Project); Judy Buchanan (Deputy Director of the National Writing Project); and Elyse Eidman-Aadahl (Executive Director of the National Writing Project)

Request:

Hi Ebony –

My name is Ellen Fern, and I work with the HYPERLINK "https://www.nwp.org/cs/public/print/resource/4649 " National Writing Project (NWP) here in D.C. You may know about HYPERLINK "http://ar15.nwp.org/" NWP's work from your time at the Gates Foundation. But very quickly, the NWP provides sustained, focused professional development for all teachers through partnerships between K-12 public, private, and charter schools and higher education institutions with the goal of improving writing and learning for all students. The NWP network of Writing Project sites, located on nearly 200 university and college campuses, provides high-quality professional development in schools, universities, libraries, museums, and after-school programs. Local Writing Project teacher leaders reach over 3,000 school districts annually.

I wanted to request a meeting with you on Tuesday, July 25th or Wednesday, July 26th to introduce ourselves and also to brief you on HYPERLINK "https://www.nwp.org/cs/public/print/doc/programs/crwp.csp" NWP's College Ready Writing Project (CRWP). Elyse Eidman-Aadahl, NWP's Executive Director, will be in D.C. on these two dates and thus the request. (NWP national office is in Berkeley, CA). The CRWP was created by NWP as part of the U.S. Department of Education's investing in innovation (i3) validation grant with matching funds provided by the Gates Foundation and the Rural School and Community Trust. The CRWP provided teacher-professional development for secondary teachers in 22 high-poverty rural school districts in 10 states (AL, AZ, AR, LA, MI, MS, NY, OK, SC and TN), delivered by 12 Writing Project sites. A two-year random assignment evaluation from SRI International found that CRWP had a positive, statistically significant impact on student writing.

The CRWP evaluation (conducted by SRI International – executive summary HYPERLINK "https://www.sri.com/sites/default/files/publicati ons/sri-crwp-research-brief_nov-2015-final.pdf" here) is one of the largest and most rigorous to find evidence of impact: Key findings showed that the NWP professional development model had a positive impact on both teachers' instructional practice and their students' writing. Specifically:
An overwhelming number of teachers (76% across 22 districts) consistently participated in at least 45 hours of professional development annually. This significantly impacted:
the instruction students received; and, the proficiency of students on complex writing tasks such as connecting evidence to an argument.

CRWP students outperformed students in control districts on four attributes of argument writing – content, structure, stance and conventions.

I know you and the Secretary very much want to continue to support high-quality, evidence-based professional development, and thus would very much like to introduce you to the work of the NWP which has been supported also by the Supporting Effective Educator (SEED) grant funds as well.

Thanks so very much in advance. Hope this timing works.

Best, Ellen

TA/Evidence/Other

Location (b)(6)

Hi All,

As part of the planning process for the FY 19 OMB submission, Budget is holding one final discussion group on the topics of evidence and technical assistance. The goal of this meeting is to discuss, prioritize, and reach final agreement on specific proposals related to evidence and TA investments will be included in the FY 19 OMB Submission (and ultimately, the FY 19 President's Budget request to Congress).

Agenda items so far include:

OPEPD POC submission related to data use and TA – Jenn Bell-Ellwanger & Jessica Ramakis
TA Consolidation Proposal - broader discussion of an idea that has been floating around for some time related to a possible consolidation of certain large TA investments (e.g., Comp Centers, RELs, SLDS) - Jagir Patel, Craig Stanton & Bill Cordes
Other if time permits

Draft papers/materials will follow in advance of the meeting. Sorry if this time doesn't work for all. This looks like the best time for most – scheduling for this group is tough.

*Check in time is 3:00 pm and check out time is 11:00 am.

*See the revised, draft agenda. Would Dr. Chism like to have the first or second slot on the agenda for Monday? I am inviting district officials and congressman and thought that the 10:00 timeframe would offer more opportunities for others to attend. If Dr. Chism has a title for her presentation, I'll add that. In addition, we'd love to have Dr. Chism attend the dinner on Sunday. It will be a casual event at the home of one of our staff persons. We have shuttles that will take folks there. We are inviting the President of Clemson University and Dean of the College of Education at Clemson to the dinner too.

Also please give Dr. Chism my personal cell phone in case she needs anything: (b)(6)

CONTEXT
Tiffany Cardona < HYPERLINK "mailto:tiffany.cardona@tntp.org" tiffany.cardona@tntp.org>
Our Fishman winners will come in with a broad view of federal work in education over the last few years and recently, and on ESSA. I'll be happy to introduce the folks in the room, and will then ask Mr. Botel to share a bit about the issues he's most focused on in education policy right now. We're looking forward to an open dialogue following, through which the winners may learn his perspective on the following guiding questions: This summer, our Fishman Prize winners have been exploring what it means to provide all students equitable opportunities for college, career, and life. In the classroom, they have focused on the instructional elements of high rigor and relevance as both necessary to the student experience. How do you think our country can support teachers and schools in providing an excellent, rigorous, and relevant education to students? And from your point of view, what are other key barriers to success for all students in the American education system, and what can we do about them?

And in case it's useful, here's a list of all the incredible leaders the group will be meeting with while we're in DC, in the order we'll be meeting them:

John King, President of the Education Trust and former U.S. Secretary of Education

Subject: Demand Reduction Steering Committee Meeting

Valued partner - recently, we sent a save-the-date email concerning our first convening of the Office of National Drug Control Policy's (ONDCP) Drug Demand Reduction Interagency Executive Steering Group. I want to formally invite you to the initial meeting, which will feature participation at the Executive Level, and held at the Eisenhower Executive Office Building Room 350 on July 28, 2017 from 10:00am - 12:00pm. Executive Level meetings will take place twice annually, with regular Sub-InterAgency Working Group Meeting held quarterly, chaired by subject matter experts from ONDCP as well as by Agency designees empowered to advance policy issues.

This Executive Steering Group will give us the opportunity to collaborate on the wide spectrum of demand reduction issues, helping ONDCP and Interagency Partners to prioritize and operationalize demand reduction priorities across the Federal Government. Issues addressing the opioid epidemic and other drug use will range from the broad continuum of care across services from prevention to early intervention, treatment and recovery, and elements of the public health and public safety interface. There are a myriad of priority issues that will be addressed on an ongoing basis, from addressing the prescription drug epidemic via federal rules and regulations, improving access to and the quality of evidence based treatment, improving treatment infrastructure, promoting evidence based prevention, etc.

I appreciate your consideration and ask that if you have not already, please contact Vanessa Woodberry at HYPERLINK "mailto:vwoodberry@ondcp.eop.gov"vwoodberry@ondcp.
eop.gov<mailto:vwoodberry@ondcp.eop.gov> to indicate your ability to participate. Additionally, for entrance to the EEOB, provide your

Here is the outline regarding the professional development series that Jason and I spoke about on this past Monday. As we committed to you, every effort has been made to address your earlier feedback, and the initial number of days and sessions contemplated have been reduced. Please see the attachment for a complete outline of the series. Here is a snapshot of the planned schedule, below:

PLANNED SCHEDULE FOR SERIES

We will launch the first segment on July 28th, and will then follow with sessions in August, and some facilitation later in October and November, and early in 2018. PRE-WORK & OTHER ASSIGNMENTS
This series has been designed to maximize meeting the developmental objectives and achieving results, while minimizing the "in-class" facilitations. With that, we must ask for your participation in two pre-work assignments, one webinar (can be completed as late as October 15th) and a prequel content reading that will be preparatory for the fall series. Please note the following:

The program incorporates specific assessments to facilitate your learning. Assessments are a critical part of this experience and will be instrumental to the value you will derive from the program. For this reason, we ask that you take some time to complete the first assessment (called FIRO-B) by Sunday, July 30, 2017. This brief survey should only take about 20 minutes to complete.

Additionally, we ask that you consider a Key Leadership Challenge to bring with you to the August 3rd-4th sessions. In summary, these sessions will focus on:

FIRO-B Assessment - a self-assessment that focuses on specific interpersonal behaviors within the organizational context
Key Leadership Challenge (KLC) - a workplace challenge that you are currently managing, and that requires support from others; we will layer all topics discussed in the program onto your KLC in order to bridge theory and practice, and to ensure immediate impact from the lessons gleaned during your time with the group

Here is the link below to that (FIRO-B) assessment:

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Please complete the first (FIRO-B) assessment due by 11:59 p.m. on this coming Sunday, July 30, 2017. (I mistakenly referred to this date as July 31st in the meeting.) Your results will be prepared and provided at the facilitation on Thursday, August 3rd. We are working with the coaches to make arrangements for those who indicated that they would be unable to complete the initial assessment, due to prior plans to be on travel or out of the office. All others PLEASE complete this brief, online survey by the deadline.

Feel free to contact me with any related questions.

Thanks,

Mw

All,

To accommodate everyone's schedules we are moving the date and time of the briefing.

Thanks!

Good morning,

Secretary DeVos and Secretary Carson had a conversation last week about Envision Centers. HUD staff would like to brief ED staff on Envision Centers, as well as follow-up on the Secretaries' conversation last week.

Below is background information on Envision Centers:

Since assuming office, Secretary Carson has prioritized creating what he calls "Envision Centers". The concept is designed around providing holistic services to individuals receiving public housing benefits. Envision Centers would operate around four basic pillars:

Health and Wellness
Character and Leadership
Economic Empowerment
And improving education systems in economically depressed areas

More specifically, these centers would occupy, or reclaim, old and/or abandoned buildings and spaces located in neighborhoods predominately serviced by federal housing dollars. The goal would be that these partnerships place the resources needed within the very communities that need them the most.

For the Department of Education, this would mean a partnership with HUD designed around providing wrap-around educational services to some of our most socio-economically disadvantaged students and families. For example, HUD noted that there are about 320 Boys and Girls Clubs currently located on land dedicated to public housing. The Envision Center program would like to build on this kind of currently existing infrastructure to increase access to improved educational systems for students and families in public housing.

Ebony has requested that you all attend this briefing, so please hold this date and time until we can confirm with HUD staff.

ONDCP is writing to notify you (per the attached Federal Register notice) that Chairman Christie is rescheduling the second telephonic meeting of The President's Commission on Combating Drug Addiction and the Opioid Crisis to have more time to develop the interim report. It was originally scheduled for this Monday, July 17 at 4 pm, but will now be Monday, July 31 at 4 pm. We expect that most Departments will join the call at the staff level in a listen only mode using the call in number on the attached notice. If Cabinet Secretaries wish to join the call, they can have a speaking role, but would have to use a separate call in number. Please notify ONDCP of whether your Department plans to call in at the staff level. To the extent possible, please try to consolidate lines within your Department by calling from a conference room.

Chairman Christie's office is likely to release the draft interim report shortly before the meeting, and it will be posted on the Commission website here: https://www.whitehouse.gov/ondcp/presidents-commission

(b)(6)

I have a question from Brad in the Foxx office. It deals with the Florida law here: http://laws.flrules.org/2017/116. In particular, he's interested in this language: "(a) Prior to the allocation of Title I funds to eligible schools, a school district may withhold funds only as follows: 1. One percent for parent involvement, in addition to the one percent the district must reserve under federal law for allocations to eligible schools for parent involvement; 2. A necessary and reasonable amount for administration, which includes the district's indirect cost rate, not to exceed a total of 8 percent; and 3. A reasonable and necessary amount to provide: a. Homeless programs; b. Delinquent and neglected programs; c. Prekindergarten programs and activities; d. Private school equitable services; and e. Transportation for foster care children to their school of origin or choice programs. (b) All remaining Title I funds shall be distributed to all eligible schools in accordance with federal law and regulation. An eligible school may use funds under this subsection to participate in discretionary educational services provided by the school district."

Brad wants to talk about this language and the amendment Rep. Debbie Wasserman Schultz offered during full committee markup of the FY 2018 Labor/HHS/Education appropriations bill a couple of weeks ago. I've attached that amendment to the email. He says it's been percolating on the Hill for a little while and wants to know if it's on our radar. The Wasserman Schultz amendment was withdrawn in committee, but Democrats want to "fix" this through the appropriations process. Brad told the Ds that he believes this section of the state law would cause the Florida SEA to violate section 8452 of ESSA if the state disapproves a consolidated local plan because the plan proposes to reserve more title I funds for districtwide activities than the state law would allow. However, he's not crazy about doing something legislatively because he thinks this should be an enforcement issue for ED and the Florida SEA.

So he's asked for a call to talk this issue through with the appropriate folks. He'll want to know if this is on our radar, if we agree that the scenario above would violate Sec. 8452 and whether it would be an appropriate enforcement issue for ED. Also, is there an advantage to this being handled via our enforcement process v. through a legislative fix?

Please come to OLCA if you are in the building. A call in number has been provided for anyone who cannot come to the OLCA Conference room. Thanks.

BACKGROND: Nick Matiella and Luke Esper from McCain's staff have request a call to discuss their legislation to authorize and voucher program for BIE schools. The purpose of this meeting is primarily listen to McCain's staff and discuss the Administration's choice proposals included in the FY '18 budget request.

They wrote --- Hi Chris, we've been trying to schedule a meeting through Congressional Affairs with you and/or Jason Botel about Senator McCain's BIE school choice bill (S. 1294, the Native American Education Opportunity Act.). Would you have any time this week to discuss our strategy as well as changes we'd like to make to the bill at markup? You've likely heard from Carlyle Begay about this. It's supported by American Federation for Children and others. We think the bill, once modified, can be a win for the Administration and help enhance the school choice narrative. Any help you can provide would be greatly appreciated as this is a priority issue for my boss.

the key messages about ESSA we should be taking back to those states.

Three publications as an FYI or to skim (i.e., not necessary to read) to show Education First's approach to working with states. (They are examples of the kind of work they do on behalf of states.)

· The first is the HYPERLINK "http://education-first.com/library/publication/reform-integration-framework-and-resource-guide/"Reform Integration Framework and Resource Guide, which was created during their work with the ED-sponsored Reform Support Network for the 19 Race to the Top states. It's their vision of how states can integrate the many efforts they are working on simultaneously, and it has some applications to ESSA.
· The second and third are two publications they created on ESSA regarding best uses of HYPERLINK "http://education-first.com/wp-content/uploads/2017/03/Education-First-ESSA-School-and-Teacher-Leadership-March-2017.pdf"Title II dollars and HYPERLINK "http://education-first.com/wp-content/uploads/2017/07/making-the-most-of-essa-opportunities-for-stem-july-2017.pdf"STEM opportunities. These give an example of how Education First attempted to push states' and advocates' thinking on innovative uses of ESSA.

Discussion Questions
· What are the bright spots you're seeing with ESSA plans so far? What are the biggest pain points?
· What are the main messages from USED we should take back to the states we are working with on plan writing or those states we are working with on implementation?
· What does USED's strategy to support implementation look like? Is it purely through the State Support Network? If so, how is that going so far? (since it's up and running)
· What does working with states on implementation look like to you (blue sky)?
· What are the supports you think states need? Do you have a handle on what external partners are offering? Could major partners be brought together to share strategies and possibly even look at efficiencies?
· Ed First is exploring convening major funders this fall to discuss their role in ESSA planning and implementation, any specific hopes/wish list from this stakeholder group?

Subject Appropriations School Choice Leg Strategy
Location 5W313 and Conference Line
Show Time As Tentative

This meeting will discuss our strategy around getting higher levels for school choice in a Senate appropriations bill.

As you know, the House bill does not fund the Title I FOCUS public school choice proposal, for which the request included $1 billion, and would eliminate the Education Innovation and Research (EIR) program, for which the Administration is seeking a $250 million increase for a private school voucher demonstration program. The House bill provides $370 million for the Charter Schools Program, an increase of $28 million over FY 2017 but far below the $500 million request in the President's Budget.

PRE-WORK & OTHER ASSIGNMENTS
This series has been designed to maximize meeting the developmental objectives and achieving results, while minimizing the "in-class" facilitations. With that, we must ask for your participation in two pre-work assignments, one webinar (can be completed as late as October 15th) and a prequel content reading that will be preparatory for the fall series. Please note the following:

The program incorporates specific assessments to facilitate your learning. Assessments are a critical part of this experience and will be instrumental to the value you will derive from the program. For this reason, we ask that you take some time to complete the first assessment (called FIRO-B) by Sunday, July 30, 2017. This brief survey should only take about 20 minutes to complete.

Additionally, we ask that you consider a Key Leadership Challenge to bring with you to the August 3rd-4th sessions. In summary, these sessions will focus on:
FIRO-B Assessment - a self-assessment that focuses on specific interpersonal behaviors within the organizational context
Key Leadership Challenge (KLC) - a workplace challenge that you are currently managing, and that requires support from others; we will layer all topics discussed in the program onto your KLC in order to bridge theory and practice, and to ensure immediate impact from the lessons gleaned during your time with the group

Here is the link below to that (FIRO-B) assessment:
http://online.cpp.com/en/CPPLandingPage.aspx?projectId=d43d95dc-fe79-4344-b72a-b9dea0939fb2

Please complete the first (FIRO-B) assessment due by 11:59 p.m. on this coming Sunday, July 30, 2017. (I mistakenly referred to this date as July 31st in the meeting.) Your results will be prepared and provided at the facilitation on Thursday, August 3rd. We are working with the coaches to make arrangements for those who indicated that they would be unable to complete the initial assessment, due to prior plans to be on travel or out of the office. All others PLEASE complete this brief, online survey by the deadline.

Feel free to contact me with any related questions.

Mw

Monique - I reviewed the DCL re per-pupil expenditure reporting requirements on school report cards, and as Dan Domenech said it does not specifically say that the per-pupil expenditure amounts that States report on the 2018-19 report cards will be those from 2017-18. For that reason, I would like to send him the following language to clarify this. can you please take a look and let me know if you have any feedback? if you are okay with it as is, can you please send to OGC for their approval before I send it to Dan?

As we stated in the DCL regarding the per-pupil expenditure reporting that ESSA requirements, an SEA and its LEAs may delay, until the 2018-2019 school year, reporting information on per-pupil expenditures of Federal, State, and local funds on annual report cards as required under section 1111(h)(1)(C)(x) and (h)(2)(C) of the ESEA. The information reported in the 2018-2019 school year will be the actual amounts expended during the 2017-2018 school year.

2. Monique - Do we have evidence that materials like this improve student achievement?
3. What did we decide is our next step with supporting bie?

Here is the outline regarding the professional development series that Jason and I spoke about on this past Monday. As we committed to you, every effort has been made to address your earlier feedback, and the initial number of days and sessions contemplated have been reduced. Please see the attachment for a complete outline of the series. Here is a snapshot of the planned schedule, below:

PLANNED SCHEDULE FOR SERIES
We have contracted two organizational development coaches and facilitators to help us launch a professional development series focused on management development and learning how to maximize the resources of diversity, equity and opportunity. We will launch the first segment on July 28th, and will then follow with sessions in August, and some facilitation later in October and November, and early in 2018. Here is a brief overview of the first segment:

PRE-WORK & OTHER ASSIGNMENTS
This series has been designed to maximize meeting the developmental objectives and achieving results, while minimizing the "in-class" facilitations. With that, we must ask for your participation in two pre-work assignments, one webinar (can be completed as late as October

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

15th) and a prequel content reading that will be preparatory for the fall series. Please note the following:

The program incorporates specific assessments to facilitate your learning. Assessments are a critical part of this experience and will be instrumental to the value you will derive from the program. For this reason, we ask that you take some time to complete the first assessment (called FIRO-B) by Sunday, July 30, 2017. This brief survey should only take about 20 minutes to complete.

Additionally, we ask that you consider a Key Leadership Challenge to bring with you to the August 3rd-4th sessions. In summary, these sessions will focus on:

FIRO-B Assessment - a self-assessment that focuses on specific interpersonal behaviors within the organizational context
Key Leadership Challenge (KLC) - a workplace challenge that you are currently managing, and that requires support from others; we will layer all topics discussed in the program onto your KLC in order to bridge theory and practice, and to ensure immediate impact from the lessons gleaned during your time with the group

http://online.cpp.com/en/CPPLandingPage.aspx?projectId=d43d95dc-fe79-4344-b72a-b9dea0939fb2

Please complete the first (FIRO-B) assessment due by 11:59 p.m. on this coming Sunday, July 30, 2017. (I mistakenly referred to this date as July 31st in the meeting.) Your results will be prepared and provided at the facilitation on Thursday, August 3rd. We are working with the coaches to make arrangements for those who indicated that they would be unable to complete the initial assessment, due to prior plans to be on travel or out of the office. All others PLEASE complete this brief, online survey by the deadline.

Feel free to contact me with any related questions.

Thanks,

Mw

Subject PRE-MEET for Big 4 Call
Location Jason's office
Show Time As Busy

THIS IS A PRE-MEET to discuss our message for the 1:30pm call with the Big 4.

(b)(6)

We told Murray/Scott we would provide more information as to how ED has deemed these pieces of DE's plan are compliant with ESSA.

We'd like to handle all of the questions on one phone call.

1. Subgroup accountability – specifically ESSA's requirement that state accountability systems identify two categories of schools for targeted support: targeted support schools (Sec. 1111(d)(2)(B)) and additional targeted support schools (Sec. 1111(d)(2)(C))
2. 95% testing requirement – specifics around how Delaware is compliant with the statute's requirements that there be a clear and understandable explanation of how the 95% requirement factors into state accountability systems and the requirements related to the denominator in the calculation of the 95% requirement (Sec. 1111(c)(4)(E))
3. How Delaware's college and career preparedness options

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

comply with the law's requirements that the school quality and student success indicator be valid, reliable, comparable, and statewide (Sec. 1111(c)(4)(B)(v)(I)(bb))

We also said we would tell them:

waiver status:

do we have an answer for this yet? OESE and OGC were working on this but we hadn't nailed it down yet as far as I know.

information on the calls to states:

as of today we've called IL,DC, ME, and MI (in progress) information on posting of state plan revisions and approvals. We discussed doing a general TP and having more detail available if necessary.

The Secretary is posting the revisions and approvals in accordance with ESSA. (general TP needs a little more)
The public-review provision of Section 1111(a)(5) applies only to the approval of Title I individual plans under Section 1111 and not to approvals of consolidated plans under Section 8451. Indeed, Section 8451 in subsection d incorporates by reference the peer-review requirements of Section 1111(a)(4) but it does not incorporate the public-review requirement of Section 1111(a)(5). (more detailed TP to have as a background)

Hi Jason,

I just wanted to reach out and check in. I know you are getting beaten up pretty badly by a lot of our mutual friends, so I thought it might do you some good to get a friendly email! I'm sure it wouldn't be helpful for us to say so publicly (so we won't), but I did want you to know that we appreciate what y'all are doing. We do have questions about the content of the feedback, but we aren't interested in raising those externally. Just wanted you to know that.

Subject Excellence in Government Fellows Program (EIG): Team 1derful Presentation
Location 6W100
Show Time As Tentative

As part the Excellence In Government Fellows Program, fellows are assigned to small groups to select and work on projects that support the Federal government's efforts to better serve its citizens. Our small group sought evidence-based recommendations for the most effective communication modalities for students who may experience food and/or housing insecurity while attending college. Using an online survey, we gathered some meaningful and diverse demographic data from today's postsecondary population regarding how they seek or receive actionable information when they are in need of housing and/or food assistance; how they rank their communication modality preferences; and what communication sources prove most and least helpful.
We would like to share our findings with you, and hope that you can attend our brief presentation on August 8, 2017, 2:00-3:00PM; LBJ-5C100.
Sincerely,

EIG Fellows: Sally Diamond, Barbara Hoblitzell, Laura Nishi, George Alan Smith, and Jamila Smith

I was hoping with my message a few minutes ago to avoid having to meet again about this, but based on some emails already, I think we need to meet again about this. I don't think we are all on the same page, and I definitely don't feel I have a thorough enough understanding to go back to the State yet. I know it's short notice, so I hope everyone can make themselves available for this.

I think the outstanding questions are:

1. In general, does ESSA allow States to identify schools for Comprehensive Support based the aggregated performance of student groups, or does it require that States identify schools for Comprehensive Support based on the disaggregated performance of individual subgroups, including individual racial and ethnic groups?
2. If the answer to #1 is that ESSA requires States to identify schools for Comprehensive Support based on the disaggregated performance of individual subgroups, including individual racial and ethnic groups, in the current version of TN's proposed State plan, is TN proposing to identify schools for Comprehensive Support in a way that does not consider the disaggregated performance of individual racial and ethnic groups?
3. Either way, is TN proposing to identify schools for Targeted Support in a way that does not consider the disaggregated performance of individual racial and ethnic groups? (I think we are agreed that ESSA requires that States identify schools for Targeted Support based on the disaggregated performance of individual subgroups, including individual racial and ethnic groups)

Thanks!

Meeting Name: MEETING: Bart Epstein Purpose:
"As a nation, we spend approximately $13.2 billion per year on educational technologies. Too few of those dollars are driven by evidence of (1) "what works" and/or (2) what is likely to be a successful fit for a particular institution. Over the last year and a half, Jefferson Education, Digital Promise, and the University of Virginia recruited 150 of the nation's leading entrepreneurs, district leaders, philanthropists, researchers, teachers, and investors to form ten working groups that did real research into the structural barriers to better institutional decision-making; and what can be done to improve it. We are now building consensus about next steps from the perspective of the various stakeholders."

PROVIDED MATERIALS
Over the last year, we gathered HYPERLINK "http://curry.virginia.edu/symposium/who-we-are/"150 of the nation's leading education entrepreneurs, academic researchers; district and university leaders; investors and philanthropists; and teachers and professors into these HYPERLINK "http://curry.virginia.edu/symposium/working-groups/"ten working groups. We then hired professional researchers (and graduate students) to provide research support for each working group as it investigated HYPERLINK "http://curry.virginia.edu/symposium/working-groups/"ten different issues related to the role of efficacy research in the development, funding, and procurement of EdTech.

At our recent Symposium, those 150 working group members, plus a hand-picked group of approximately 125 other education leaders convened to discuss these problems and debate specific actionable next steps that we can take to improve our education system. Here are four a blog post, two news items, and an essay about the event:

back-up conference room will be 6C100.

Hello Jason,

Thank you very much for agreeing to lead a Meet-Up on Wednesday, August 16th at 12:00pm. We are extremely grateful for your willingness to share your time, as well as a skill, hobby, or interest in the name of employee engagement at the Department! Carrie was gracious enough to assist us in determining this date and time. I will share further information soon, but in the meantime, I welcome you and/or Carrie to reach out to me should you have any questions.

Thank you and regards,
Pathways to Leadership (PTL) Group 4

Background:
RecognizED Meet-Ups are an employee engagement initiative developed by five Department staff. Utilizing the framework of similar employee engagement initiatives at the State Department and Google, RecognizED Meet-Ups are intended to foster employee interest in one another through a series of peer-to-peer learning opportunities. Meet-Ups encourage staff to share their unique knowledge, talents, interests, and hobbies; engage with colleagues in a new way; and connect as individuals. Another overarching goal of the program is to increase employee engagement and retention, while providing staff an opportunity to display leadership skills and network with others.

Date: August 16th 1:30PM Eastern

Conference Call Information Jason Botel:

(b)(6)

Tom Torlakson
State Superintendent of Public Instruction
Assumed Office: 1/3/2011
Elected by Popular Vote

Tom Torlakson was re-elected to a second four-year term as the State Superintendent of Public Instruction in November 2014.

· The Superintendent recently announced that California's graduation rate increased for the seventh year in a row in 2016, to 83.2 percent.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

California is transitioning to new science general and alternate assessments. CDE submitted a science assessment waiver request to ED in 2016 that would allow the State not to have full science assessment results for multiple years as it transitions to new assessments. ED denied this request in January 2017, but extended an offer to CDE in March to submit a one-year waiver request. Although CDE seemed interested, the State has not yet submitted such a waiver.

^^ Update from Nkemjika [In the last sentence of the last bullet, it states that they did not submit a waiver, however, they did this on April 28 of this year. Please note that we went back and forth with CA a bit on the addition of alternate assessments being included in the waiver request and they eventually acquiesced which lead to the one year approval letter.]

Monique et al,
Thanks. I am just putting this on our calendars for those who responded already. I am sure I will hear from others; I will forward this invite to them as I hear from them.
Denise, can you please check into room availability?

I know that this time may not work equally well for all, but do come for any part of it that you can.
Thanks in advance,

Location TDC 1W128
Show Time As Tentative

8/22/17 UPDATE: Room Change – 1W128

8/21/17 – Colleagues: Just a reminder about this training tomorrow. This will be the last in-person session with Leah for this series. Snacks will be provided in the morning and after segments, and lunch will be on your own. The afternoon session will include a real treat, so don't miss out! Leah will also share the results of her assessment, following the interviews that have been completed to date. If you have not yet scheduled or completed an interview with Leah or Adam, please contact Stacie Jackson to do so.

ALSO…PLEASE complete the survey for whatever sessions you have attended thus far. Your feedback is very helpful. Please complete the surveys by Friday, August 25th.

FINALLY – If you still need to take FIRO-B or obtain the analysis from it, DARRYL SPIVEY will be back in LBJ on Thursday, August 24th between 9:00 a.m. – 4:30 p.m. Please contact Stacie if you need to meet with Darryl to obtain an overview of your results, have additional questions about how to apply your results as you lead your teams, or are interested in discussing any other management development issues of interest to you. This will be Darryl's last in-person session for this series. Darryl will provide a webinar at the end of the series (which you can watch anytime by October 15th), and will also leave a capstone of materials that will bridge this series with future PD sessions in FY18. Just think "sequel"… See you tomorrow.

Seminar on understanding and managing with an awareness of unconscious biases, equitable distribution of work, and other impediments to real opportunity for employees. With Leah Kedar.

All

We would like to discuss our draft 19 request to OMB and which activities we will propose under school safety national activities. As you know, we currently have $68 million for School Safety National Activities in our draft FY 2019 budget request to OMB. With nearly all currently funded activities under this program winding up in FY 2018, we have a clean slate for FY 2019. As shown below, the authority is very broad and does not require any specific activities.

SEC. 4631. ø20 U.S.C. 7281¿ NATIONAL ACTIVITIES FOR SCHOOL SAFETY.

(a) PROGRAM AUTHORIZED.—
(1) IN GENERAL.—From the funds reserved under section 4601(b)(1), the Secretary—

(A) shall use a portion of such funds for the Project School Emergency Response to Violence program (in this section referred to as ''Project SERV''), in order to provide education-related services to eligible entities; and

(B) may use a portion of such funds to carry out other activities to improve students' safety and well-being, during and after the school day, under this section directly or through grants, contracts, or cooperative agreements with public or private entities or individuals, or other Federal agencies, such as providing technical assistance to States and local educational agencies carrying out activities under this section or conducting a national evaluation.

Important reminder. Since so many OESE staff have reported having issues with the speed of their computer, we have asked EDUCATE to set up a Help Desk to diagnose the reason why our computers are slow and to try to increase the speed. The computer technicians have a range of things that they can do ON THE SPOT to increase the speed of your computer.

See the dates, times and locations of the Help Desk below. No appointment needed!

DATE ROOM TIME
Wednesday, August 23 3E101 9:00-4:00
Thursday, August 31 3E100 9:00-4:00

Participating in the Help Desk also shows that slow computer speed is a concern for many of us! Evidently the Help Desk receives very few complaints about speed, so it doesn't get as much attention as it should.

We are working to finalize the language in the Maine letter and want to discuss the differences with the NV letter.

For consideration, here is the language in the approved NV letter:

In its consolidated State Plan, a State must describe how low-income and minority children enrolled in schools assisted with Title I, Part A funds are not served at disproportionate rates by ineffective, out-of-field or inexperienced teachers, and the measures the State will use to evaluate and publicly report its progress with respect to reducing any disproportionate rates consistent with ESEA section 1111(g)(1)(B). In its consolidated State plan, Nevada describes a plan to collect the data necessary to meet this requirement by spring 2018. The Department awarded fiscal year 2017 funds based on the assurances Nevada provided to the Department on June 7, 2017. Prior to receiving fiscal year 2018 funds, Nevada must amend its consolidated State plan to provide the requisite description to meet this requirement. Please submit this amendment for the Department's review and approval no later than May 15, 2018.

And here is the language in the proposed ME letter (and an alternative for consideration):

In its consolidated State Plan, a State must describe how low-income and minority children enrolled in schools assisted with Title I, Part A funds are not served at disproportionate rates by ineffective, out-of-field or inexperienced teachers, and the measures the State will use to evaluate and publicly report its progress with respect to reducing any disproportionate rates consistent with ESEA section 1111(g)(1)(B). MDE must amend its consolidated State plan to provide the requisite description to meet this requirement no later than September 15, 2018. An inability to provide this information by this date may impact MDE's fiscal year 2018 Title I, Part A allocation.

BRIEFING
Appointed by State Board of Education
Commissioner Stewart has served almost 40 years in the field of education. She began her career as a teacher, moving after 20 years into positions as a guidance counselor, testing and research specialist, assistant principal and principal.
FDOE's Deputy Chancellor for Educator Quality, Brian Dassler, unexpectedly passed away this year at age 38. Before coming to FDOE, Mr. Dassler was the founding principal of a KIPP high school in New Orleans—given the Assistant Secretary's KIPP background, he may want to say something to Commissioner Stewart about Mr. Dassler's passing.

- OPM Guidance
- Ethics considerations--especially considering various charities and items of value
- Entire Department engagement
- Logistics (especially for ED regions)

Colleagues—I wanted to grab whatever time we could get quickly to discuss this idea. I agree with Holly that the best avenue is to plug into ongoing efforts. I mainly want to be clear on any ethics implications or parameters. Holly—Phil and I look available at this time today but not later, but you appear to be booked throughout. Please let us know if there is any possibility to talk at this time, or if I should look for another. Thanks, Mw

FROM BILL CORDES IN PREP FOR THURSDAY'S MEETING
Here's a brief description of the BIE and a GAO report that may be helpful background in preparing for Thursday's meeting.
Bureau of Indian Education (BIE)
Formerly known as the Office of Indian Education Programs, the Bureau of Indian Education (BIE) was renamed and established on August 29, 2006, to reflect the parallel purpose and organizational structure BIE has in relation to other programs within the Office of the Assistant Secretary-Indian Affairs. The BIE is headed by a Director, who is responsible for the line direction and management of all education functions, including the formation of policies and procedures, the supervision of all program activities and the approval of the expenditure of funds appropriated for education functions.

There have been three major legislative actions that restructured the Bureau of Indian Affairs (BIA) with regard to educating American Indians since the Snyder Act of 1921. First, the Indian Reorganization Act of 1934 introduced the teaching of Indian history and culture in BIA schools (until then it had been Federal policy to acculturate and assimilate Indian people by eradicating their tribal cultures through a boarding school system). Second, the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act of 1975 (P.L. 93-638) gave authority to federally recognized tribes to contract with the BIA for the operation of Bureau-funded schools and to determine education programs suitable for their children. The Education Amendments Act of 1978 (P.L. 95-561) and further technical amendments (P.L. 98-511, 99-99, and 100-297) provided funds directly to tribally operated schools, empowered Indian school boards, permitted local hiring of teachers and staff, and established a direct line of authority between the Education Director and the AS-IA. The No Child Left Behind Act of 2001 (P.L. 107-110) brought additional requirements to the schools by holding them accountable for improving their students' academic performance with the U.S. Department of Education supplemental program funds they receive through the Bureau.

AGENDA

COMPETITIONS AND RELATED ISSUES

Promise Neighborhood Competition – Second deadline to be established for Texas and Louisiana due to Hurricane Harvey. Note that this program does not have to obligate funds until December 31.

Promise Neighborhood Extensions – The FY 17 appropriation directed the Department to extend the highest quality existing Promise Neighborhood grants. There are a total of 12 grants I'll explain the current plan which takes into account there is no way to choose among the existing grantees all of whom are excelling in certain areas and not in others and the fact that the Hill wants us to make large extension grants to a few grantees.

EIR Slate – This is just a flag that because of the statutory requirement to spend 25% of the appropriation on rural grants, we will have to skip one highly-rated applicant on the funding slate.

Jacksonville State University – OII and OPE have a total of $30 million in grants to this institution. After the project officers had concerns about overlap of activities and other things among the various grants, the two project officers and Risk Management Service conducted a site visit. We learned that there weren't really appropriate internal controls and an accounting of funds such that we could tell how the money was being spent including who was being paid under which grant. We have now put the grantees on reimbursement and on high risk status and have also notified the IG per OGC's advice. I can explain more when we meet.

OTHER

STEM Work – OII has managed the Department's STEM work for the last 7 years or so. Political appointees staffed the work with the help of an outstanding STEM fellow, Ellen Lettvin. Ellen's appointment is up in early March. I'm aware that this function may not remain in OII but have talked to Ebony about identifying a career person to shadow Ellen so we have some continuity in the work, especially because of the White House interst in STEM.

Personalized Learning—What a wonderful meeting we had this past week. We look forward to beginning a conversation on what, if any, appropriate next steps there may be.

National Alliance Meeting on Charter Schools Facilities – Nina has invited Stefan to this small convening in October.

Subject: OELA/Title III SP Budget

Hola Jason!

So OELA has been able to use our 2016 carryover funds and a portion of our 2017 funds to cover some of our existing obligations (Asian American Pacific Islander Grant& EL Academic Language Study); we're postponing our EL Social & Emotional study for now and will revisit in FY 2018. We won't need a Title III allotment to conduct activities for now.

It is my understanding that now under ESSA when OPEPD comes out with a research evaluation agenda, a percentage of the funds required will come from the Title III formula grants (state allocations); it looks like OELA has pulled .5% in the past for our grants and studies and there was talk of it going down to .2%. I am assuming OESE, OELA and OPEPD will meet at some point to make decisions.

That's what I wanted to see you about... But I figured you'd probably needed to be briefed on this process and what your office is thinking before you could talk to me about FY2018. We're trying to plan ahead to see what we would be able to support. So, when you can, please find out more about this process and how it affects OELA's 2018 and hopefully we can meet to discuss. I'm still figuring things out but want to support the core work of this office which I know influences states and their decisions. We'll need the funding of course.

So please help me figure this out and hopefully we can meet; I can bring our budget people along as well.

Gracias.

Jose

Meeting Name: MEETING: PHONE CALL: Francis Brooke-OVP
Purpose: To discuss graduation rates, concerning Indiana Governor's Office
Date: Sept 12th 11AM-11:30AM
Location: Jason WILL CALL (b)(6)

EMAIL FROM GOVERNOR HOLCOMB'S OFFICE
In 2013, USED notified the Indiana Department of Education, then under former Indiana Superintendent Ritz, that changes to the way Indiana reports graduation rates were needed. Her administration did not make anyone aware that changes may be needed - including school districts, the Indiana General Assembly who needs to act on legislation, or the Governor.

In the spring of 2017, new Superintendent Jennifer McCormick and her staff at Indiana Department of Education (IDOE) were caught by surprise when they received a USED request for more information as to how we were calculating graduation rates.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Immediately, IDOE began providing information to USED to make the case that the general diploma should be included in the graduation rate calculation. That back and forth went on into July.

In July 2017, USED informed IDOE and the Governor's Office that Indiana could no longer include general diploma students in our federal graduation rate calculation. Based upon 2016 data, this will reduce Indiana's graduation rate from approximately 89% to approximately 76%.

Indiana students currently choose to move to a General Diploma from a Core 40 Diploma at the end of their sophomore year, so this change will have an immediate impact on students that are currently juniors and seniors and have the possible unintended consequence of impacting economic development opportunities for state and local communities since graduation rates will drop so significantly.

Now that we know changes need to be made, we will pursue legislative changes to the diploma this upcoming legislative session.

We have been asking that USED use their administrative discretion, which we believe they have, to temporarily delay implementation of the new Federal graduation rate definition in order to give Indiana and other states time to properly revise their policies. Before Indiana can make the changes required by USED, the Indiana General Assembly must act in their 2018 legislative session and then the State can inform and educate school districts on the new policies. School Districts will need some time to implement.

USED is estimating that 20-25% of states will be in a similar position this year.

Stephen Pruitt
Commissioner of Education
Assumed office: 10/16/15
Appointed by State Board of Education

The Chief, Stephen Pruitt, came on board in fall 2015. Additionally, he was recently (2016) elected to the Council of Chief State School Officers' Board of Directors.
KY has a condition on its IDEA grant award due to the State's not administering a general and alternate science assessment aligned to State content standards. OSS staff recently (4/7) held a call with the State to discuss its recent peer review of assessments response letter, along with its progress towards developing and administering these assessments. It appears that the State is making progress, and ED looks forward to another call with the State later this spring after the science alternate has been administered.

Accountability System
Kentucky schools and districts will soon be "graded" on a five-star scale. The Kentucky Board of Education unanimously approved the new accountability system. The vote came after a year and a half seeking a replacement for the state's current system — which Education Commissioner Stephen Pruitt has said is overly complicated and not a true reflection of school quality. The state currently gives schools an overall score out of 100 and uses those scores to discern whether a school is "proficient," "distinguished" or "needs improvement," the Courier-Journal has reported. Those categories will go away under the new system, which will be fully implemented in the 2018-19 school year.

Horton's Kids Tutoring Program

Horton's Kids is a nonprofit organization that serves more than 200 children living in Anacostia, one of Washington D.C.'s poorest neighborhoods. The students are brought to the Department's LBJ building each week for intensive one-on-one tutoring. Tutors work with K-5 students in a variety of subject areas to help them achieve at grade level and to give them mentors and positive role models as they help to instill a love of learning.

The tutoring takes place in the LBJ cafeteria from 5:00-6:00 p.m. every Wednesday, and employees are eligible for one hour of administrative leave with approval from a supervisor. For some, pairing up with another tutor makes the commitment manageable, tutors may also work as substitutes instead of being assigned to one child.

Many children are waiting to join, so ED and Horton's Kids work together to recruit, hold orientations and train new tutors. After orientation, new volunteers may shadow or assist a tutoring pair until they are assigned a student.

If you have questions or wish to attend an upcoming orientation, contact Patricia Landis about Horton's Kids via HYPERLINK "mailto:jennifer.padgett@ed.gov" email or at (202) 260-4422.

http://www.providencejournal.com/opinion/20170826/ my-turn-ken-wagner-recharging-ri-students-interest-in-school

"Last spring, we launched a statewide school culture and climate survey called SurveyWorks. We heard from educators and families about what is and isn't working in their school communities."

"We're on track to meet the Governor's CS4RI challenge to have computer science offered at every school in the state. Working with our colleagues in higher education, we continue to grow the PrepareRI early college program and the Advanced Coursework Network to increase access to college and other challenging courses, with more than 120 offerings through 14 providers this year. We also have more than 140 career preparation programs, built upon strong partnerships with industry leaders, which bridge the gap between classrooms and careers."

"Career readiness initiatives continue to expand, thanks in part to Rhode Island's successful New Skills for Youth grant from JPMorgan Chase. We've assembled a group of education leaders to serve as PrepareRI Ambassadors, who will spend this year leading professional development opportunities and creating policy recommendations to enhance career education offerings."

NOTE: Monique, please forward the invitation to anyone additional you think needs to be added.

CONTEXT
Here is a summary of the RRTF meeting last week:

1) The Unified Agenda is due to OMB on 9/30/17 so if any POC has any regulations it wants issue in the next 6-9 months, it must submit the proposal now. The proposal includes the proposed title of the reg., a brief abstract, and the statutory authority (e.g., to conform with

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

ESSA).
2) There was a discussion about "cost allowance" of regulations that will go into effect in 2018. OMB is providing guidance on how to calculate this as it is a new requirement and OGC/Budget will provide further guidance when they receive this from OMB.
3) POC presentations on the proposed guidance and regulation rescissions will take place on 9/14 (for guidance) and 9/18 (for regs.). These are expected to be 10 minute presentations in which POCs describe the reasons why the documents/regs. are outdated; identify potentially sensitive documents that may spark stakeholder reaction to rescission; and identify documents that we want to keep online for historical context.
a. On this note, OGC will come up with wording to identify archived documents with historical value.
4) Stakeholder comments – DRS reviewed all of the comments submitted through the Federal Register and assigned them to the appropriate offices. DRS suggested summarizing the comments in case the Secretary wants to see a broad overview at some point.
a. On this note, I went through all of the comments assigned to OESE and provided them to the appropriate offices for consideration. I asked each office to review and send me an email letting me know whether the comments changed their decision to keep/modify/rescind.

Also, I'm going to drop off some stakeholder letters with Carrie as an FYI. Based on some of the comments, Patrick Rooney is wondering whether it would make sense to get on the list of proposed regs. for the fall Unified Agenda to deal with some of the ESSA changes. If you decide to do so, we would need to let Hilary and her team know soon.

BDV Approved ESSA State Plan 8/30
BIO
Dr. Salam Noor was appointed as Deputy Superintendent of Public Instruction by Governor Kate Brown effective July 1, 2015. Salam is serving as Oregon's second appointed head of the Oregon

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Department of Education following 2011 legislation which made the Governor the Superintendent of Schools with the authority to appoint a Deputy to run the Department.

In his role as Deputy Superintendent, Salam oversees the education of more than a half-million students in over 1,200 public and charter schools. He works closely with Chief Education Officer Lindsey Capps on implementing changes to the state's education system to better align services, supports, and funding from pre-kindergarten through higher education to help the state reach its 40-40-20 goal.

In addition to the education reform efforts currently in place, key priorities include ensuring students enter school ready to learn; a strong focus on literacy, especially at the early grades; educational equity and closing opportunity and systems gaps; implementation of new college- and career-ready standards and an aligned assessment; supporting educators in providing high-quality instruction in every classroom in the state; and ensuring Oregon graduates leave our schools prepared for their next steps.

Salam comes to the Oregon Department of Education after years of experience throughout the education system. He most recently served as the Director of Academic Planning and Policy for the Higher Education Coordinating Commission. Prior to that, he was the Assistant Superintendent and Chief Academic Officer for the Salem-Keizer School District, the state's second-largest district. During his time at Salem-Keizer, Salam implemented effective strategies focused on improving outcomes for students, including expanding full-day preschool programs that ensured students who have historically been underserved were ready for school and on track with their peers; the development of an early college high school model and the creation of a new Career Technical Education Center in cooperation with local industry; new program models to increase English language acquisition for emerging multilingual students; and professional learning communities that empowered teachers and school staff.

No stranger to the workings of the Oregon Department of Education, Salam previously served as an Assistant Superintendent in ODE's office of Educational Improvement and Innovation. In that role he led work around Closing the Achievement Gap; the Oregon Literacy Initiative; and a redesign of the Oregon diploma and graduation requirements that raised the bar for Oregon students. He has also taught education and political science at several universities, including Portland State, Western Oregon University, Brigham Young University, and the University of Utah. A Fulbright Scholar, Salam earned a doctorate from the University of Utah; master's and bachelor's degrees from Eastern Washington University; and a certificate from the Harvard University Executive Leadership Program.

Oregon

Prioritizes four commitments in its plan: advancing equity; creating a well-rounded education; strengthening district systems; and fostering ongoing stakeholder engagement.

Implements a new "Freshmen on track" measure to confirm that students have completed at least 6 credits within the first semester of freshmen year, recognizing the importance of credit attainment in early high school in order to graduate on time.

"Today is a tremendous milestone for Oregon. Oregon's State Plan is founded on equity and represents the voices and communities we serve," Oregon Deputy Superintendent Salam Noor said. "We want to put every one of our learners on a path to success from birth through high school, and beyond. And whether our students choose to attend college or go straight into the workforce, it's critical that their school experience is full of opportunity, and ensures they are college and career ready."

NOTE-Statewide Assessment results are supposed to be released on 9/14

Colleagues,
The purpose of this Quarterly Performance Review (QPR) is for Department leaders to discuss People and Organizational Development (POD) across the agency. As we move to eliminate the Organizational Performance Review (OPR) and integrate all performance management activities under the QPRs, we will use this meeting to highlight POD trends and best practices. Thank you!

Sincerely,
Erin

Note: This calendar invitation includes political and career leaders. POCs may choose to invite up to two additional staff (e.g., Organizational Performance Officer, Executive Officer).

Reference:
People and Organizational Development (POD) – This element covers processes within the human capital life cycles that are critical to building and strengthening the capacity of staff to achieve ED's strategic plan.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Employee Engagement: Policies and practices designed to positively influence employees' willingness to learn, continuously improve, perform at high levels, expend discretionary effort, and remain interested in working at ED.
Human Capital Strategy: This sub-element focuses on POC human capital management strategies and activities that support alignment between agency goals and priorities, plans for action, and required resources to achieve desired results. Examples of such activities may include actions of a POC to identify its human capital needs, or strengthen or implement processes that improve the quality of its workforce (e.g., Hiring, On-Boarding, Recruitment, Retention, Diversity and Inclusion, Workforce Planning, Sustainability, etc.).
Management Training and Leadership Development: Activities aimed at improving the managerial proficiency of current and aspiring Managers and Supervisors; and the leadership competencies of Managers, Supervisors, Executives, and their likely successors.
General Training and Development: Activities aimed at improving the technical proficiency of individuals, and the performance of groups or teams.
Talent and Performance Management: Activities include those that ensure that individual employee performance goals are met effectively and that performance is supported and reinforced by both rewards and accountability.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Time 10:00 AM – 11:00 AM
Subject BRIEFING: OELA
Attachments Major Provisions of ESSA Related to English Learners9.14.17 (2).docx
Show Time As Busy

Context:

· Louisiana's Progress in Achieving English Language Proficiency indicator uses a dynamic approach and will be weighted in proportion to the number of tested English Learners in a school, making every English learner student count for purposes of accountability. This type of weighting, as it relates to the English language proficiency ndicator, is a first across the country.

Details:

· ELP results are included, in equal weight, to the core academic subjects within the Assessment Index for every EL student.
· Points are awarded as follows:
• Award index points for each core academic assessment score based on the achievement level, and to each English language proficiency assessment score based on progress from the baseline.
• English language proficiency is weighted by 6 such that it is equivalent to the number of core academic assessment units for each student who is an English learner.
• Sum all weighted index scores and divide by the sum of all weights applied from the table.
· For example, in a school that has 50% EL students, results of the progress in achieving English language proficiency indicator account for 33% of the total academic indicators (Academic Achievement and Progress in ELP). Most other States have set a stagnant weight of 5 or 10% for the ELP indicator, regardless of the number of English learners in the schools.
· Further, under Louisiana's aggressive plan for English learners, all English learners are included in the calculation even when those results cannot be reported individually due to privacy concerns or when the number of students is below the State's minimum n-size. For example, in a schools with only 9 EL students out of a student body of 100 students, based on this calculation, the Progress in Achieving English Language Proficiency indicator still holds a weight of 8.5 percent of the total academic indicators (Academic Achievement and Progress in ELP).

Bob and Ebony

I wasn't sure whether you had thoughts about the agenda for Monday's meeting. I pulled this one together with OGC's input. If you have any edits, can you advise by noon Monday?

Agenda

Immediate Issues-Hurricane Extensions of expiring funds: 15 Mins
Overview of Katrina, Rita, and LA flooding: funding and program inventory: 10 Mins
Discussion of these responses: 20 Mins

Were these programs comprehensive to address the long-term recovery needs of these populations?
What was missing?
Did any of these programs have unintended impacts that we would seek to mitigate?

Initial programs that we would propose recommending to the Secretary: 10 Mins

Broader waiver authority for k-12, similar to the broader waiver authority we are considering for postsecondary education

Next Steps and Questions: 5 Mins

I know the next wave of state plans is about to hit you, and you're focused on fulfilling the directive of the executive order and reviewing all Obama era regs. BIO

The Honorable Karen A. Johnson served as Assistant Secretary of Education for Legislation and Congressional Affairs. In this Senate confirmed position Ms. Johnson was the Department's primary contact with Capitol Hill, overseeing the direction, planning and development for the implementation of the Administration's legislative goals and priorities. As Assistant Secretary, she often joined Members of Congress in their districts addressing the landmark and controversial No Child Left Behind Act. A senior member of the Department's staff, Ms. Johnson was a key advisor to Secretary of Education Rod Paige, providing strategic counsel on legislative, political and communications issues.

Before working as Assistant Secretary of Education, Ms. Johnson was vice president of social marketing and public affairs at Porter Novelli, where she had oversight of a number of not-for-profit and foundation clients including Catholic Charities and the Robert Wood Johnson Foundation.

Ms. Johnson is a veteran of numerous campaigns and large scale political management efforts, including the 2000 Republican National Convention in Philadelphia, where she served as convention manager for public liaison, overseeing the logistics and activities of the convention's 45,000 visitors. Additionally, she managed U.S. House Budget Committee Chairman John Kasich's presidential primary campaign and leadership political action committee -- Pioneer PAC.

Ms. Johnson continues to be called up to lend her expertise in the field. In 2006, she was deployed to Oregon where she worked for several months as grass roots coordinator and advisor to Ron Saxton's Gubernatorial campaign. In 2007-2008, she served as a senior advisor for former Arkansas Governor Mike Huckabee's presidential bid and continues to be politically active in her home state of Virginia.

Her campaign work is recognized internationally as well. Ms. Johnson frequently travels to Istanbul on behalf of the International Republican Institute to work with emerging Iraqi women leaders and serves as a mentor to women leaders in Jordan and Egypt through CLIME (Center for Liberty in the Middle East). Most recently she traveled to Albania to work with a variety of coalition groups on the topics of advocacy, leadership and organization.

Ms. Johnson's unique political resume earned her a fellowship at the University of Pennsylvania's Annenberg School for Communications and a speaker at the Fels Institute of Government.

An active member of her community, in recent years Ms. Johnson has focused her efforts on education-related organizations. She is on the Board of the Washington Mathematics Science Technology Public Charter High School in the District of Columbia, and is an education advisory board member for BizWorld, a San Francisco-based non-profit that inspires children to be innovative leaders through the teaching of business, entrepreneurship and finance.

Ms. Johnson began her career as a staff assistant for Congressman Duncan Hunter (R- CA). She is a graduate of Appalachian State University in North Carolina, where she earned a bachelor's degree in communications. She is the veteran of over a half a dozen marathons and has hiked to the summit of Mt. Kilimanjaro.

Subject MEET: OIE Director
Location Jason's Office
Importance High
Show Time As Busy

The Director for the Office of Indian Education left the positon in November 2016. OESE interviewed and selected an individual to serve as the Director, and made an offer that was accepted. However the hiring action was not completed due to the background investigation process not being completed before the hiring freeze and after 3 months, the candidate withdrew her application. Bernard Garcia has been serving as the Acting Director for Indian Education since November 2016 and in November 2017 he will reach his one year mark for serving as the Acting Director, and as such, we are required to make a new assignment. Additionally, in January Bernard is retiring from the Department. Bernard is the only GS 15 in the Office of Indian Education. There is only one other GS 15 within the Department that has Indian preference, and this individual works in the OGC and it is unlikely that she would want to serve as director for the Office of Indian Education.

We would like to re-assign Tara Ramsey, who currently serves as a GS-15 in the Office of Migrant Education, to the role of Acting Director for the Office of Indian Education. We have requested to receive an exception to the hiring freeze to recruit for the permanent director for the Office of Indian Education and are about to make that request again when the request window opens again on 11/9, and as soon as this is approved we fully intend to post the position with consideration of Indian preference.

Staff in HR has raised a concern that several people are currently serving in the Office of Indian Education that do not meet the Indian preference requirement. As a result, there is a legal question about whether or not Ms. Ramsey (or any other employee that would be ineligible to receive Indian preference) would be able to be re-assigned to a positon in the Office of Indian Education. HR indicated to OESE that HR would needed to confer with OGC on this matter.

We have an immediate need to resolve this matter and would like to announce this change to staff this week.

Mission
"Our mission is to create a smarter, stronger, healthier, and more productive America through early childhood education for disadvantaged children through bipartisan federal advocacy."
What We Do
"Through vision, leadership, influence, funding and accountability the First Five Years Fund advances federal investment in quality early childhood education for disadvantaged children from birth to age five. FFYF provides policymakers, advocates, business leaders and the public with the research and information necessary to make informed investments in quality early childhood development.
We help align best practices with the best possible policies and work with advocacy groups, the White House and both parties in Congress to negotiate federal solutions that work for children, families, taxpayers and state governments. Early childhood development is a practical, not partisan issue—so we collaborate with a diverse and

Subject BRIEFING: Association of CA School Administrators
Show Time As Busy

BACKGROUND

The Association of California School Administrators is the largest umbrella organization for school leaders in the United States, serving more than 17,000 California educators. 19 Regions in California, comprised of local Charters. ACSA's top priority is advocating for public school students in kindergarten through grade 12, as well as adult learners. Our mission is to be the driving force of education in California and beyond.

Administrators in California had long talked of forming an umbrella organization that encompassed their varied professional functions. Formed in July, 1971, ACSA became the first operative united administrator organization in the nation. Since ACSA's inception, administrator associations in 39 states have moved toward some form of consolidated or umbrella organization. ACSA is the only association in the nation that encompasses the broad spectrum of the management/leadership team.

Strategic Plan Information
https://www.acsa.org/Strategic-Plan

ACSA embarked on the Strategic Planning process in 2012. A Strategic Planning team developed a draft plan, which was approved by the Board of Directors the following year. The final HYPERLINK "https://www.acsa.org/download_file/view/412/224"S trategic Plan contains a new mission statement as well as nine strategies for success, and within each strategy are distinct action plans. The work of Phase 1, which began in 2013 and ended in June of 2015, went far beyond the scope of the initial action plans. This work is outlined in the HYPERLINK "https://www.acsa.org/download_file/view/255/224"P hase 1 Implementation Summary. We have now embarked on Phase 2, continuing our work in several key issue areas: education advocacy; learning experiences and professional development; alliances and networks; communications, marketing and branding; technology; and governance and finance.

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF EDUCATION

OFFICE OF ELEMENTARY AND SECONDARY EDUCATION

UPDATE MEMO

DATE: September 10, 2018

TO: Ebony Lee
Deputy Chief of Staff, Policy & Programs

FROM: Jason Botel
Principal Deputy Assistant Secretary for the Office of Elementary and Secondary Education

SUBJECT: DELIBERATIVE DRAFT - Follow-up: Adjusted Cohort Graduation Rates

Background

The Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, as amended by the Every Student Succeeds Act of 2015 (ESSA), defines a "regular high school diploma" as the "standard high school diploma awarded to the preponderance of students in the State that is fully aligned with State standards, or a higher diploma" (Section 8101(43)).

The Office of Elementary and Secondary Education (OESE) presented concerns to the policy committee about how States report their Adjusted Cohort Graduation Rates (ACGR). Specifically:

- Some States have multiple diploma options and pathways that are not all aligned to State standards (e.g., Indiana);
- Some States award diplomas to children with disabilities who have not met the general requirements for a diploma–only the requirements of their Individualized Education Plan (IEP) (e.g., Ohio and Alabama); and
- Some States inflate their graduation rate numbers (e.g., California and DC).
- It is worth noting that given current limitations on what we can collect and monitor vis a vis ACGR, without further action on our part, we have no way of knowing how many states are out of compliance with ACGR requirements.

After our presentation, the policy committee favored three solutions:

1. Increase transparency by requiring State and district report cards to include a description of graduation requirements for each diploma option.
2. Establish a peer-review process for graduation rate requirements.
3. Increase the quantity or quality of State monitoring to ensure diploma options are aligned to State standards.

This memo provides more information about each of these three potential solutions.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

1. Increasing Transparency

We explored a few different avenues for how to increase transparency: require a description of the graduation requirements on State and local report cards, require a description of each pathway's alignment to post-secondary options on State and local report cards, and require disclosure of any pathway for children with disabilities that is less rigorous than the pathways for the general population.

After speaking with program staff, it seems that our two best options for implementing these requirements are regulating directly or providing an incentive for States to comply.

As a reminder, last month OESE submitted a request in the IES package to add a data element about ACGR. If our request is approved by OMB, we will be able to specify which data element will best fit our needs. This data element would not be collected until school year 2019–2020.

2. Peer Review

During the policy committee meeting, we proposed establishing a peer-review process to ensure that all State diplomas and pathways are aligned to State standards. Such a peer-review process for ACGR would require regulation. OESE currently oversees two compliance-related peer review processes: assessment peer review and State plan peer review. Both were established by statute.

Additionally, we likely would want to use external experts for the peer review process in order to avoid any perception that makes it seem as though we are endorsing any particular graduation requirements or State standards.

3. Increase Monitoring

The final proposal favored by the policy committee was to increase the monitoring of State ACGR to ensure compliance. Here is what the Department—specifically, the Office of State Support (OSS) in OESE—currently does:

- OSS has a monitoring template with a section on accountability. That section has a question about diplomas, which asks whether the State is counting anything other than the regular diploma. Only 9 or 10 States get monitored each year; depending on its risk status, a State could go several years, and thus be out of compliance for several years, before being monitored.
- If OSS finds that a State is not complying, it issues a finding and the State proposes how to address the problem.
- OSS holds quarterly "progress checks" that all States attend. These checks can be used to provide States with reminders or technical assistance. The progress checks are neither formal nor State-specific.

DELIBERATIVE

OSS is currently updating the monitoring-report template. If we want to add questions to the monitoring report, we have a few weeks left to do so. Here are some potential questions that we could ask States:

- Are there any alternative graduation pathways for students with disabilities? If so, please describe them.
- How many different pathways does your State have to the regular high school diploma? Please describe each pathway.
- How many different high school diplomas does your State offer? Please describe the differences between each diploma.

Subject: CELEBRATE THE CONSTITUTION--THE NATION'S SEMINAL DOCUMENT--ON CONSTITUTION DAY, WITH SCHOLARS, STUDENT PERFORMERS, AND ED!

Do not miss this year's Constitution Day Event, Monday, Sept. 17, in LBJ auditorium and streaming on Mediasite and EDstream* at 1:30 pm ET!

The event features a former solicitor general and student performances!

ED's featured speaker, Gregory G. Garre, was the 44th Solicitor General of the U.S., and was the federal government's top lawyer arguing cases before the Supreme Court. He was also responsible for overseeing the government's litigation in the federal appellate courts.

2018 is the 150th anniversary of the passage of the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, and Garre will discuss it with Deputy General Counsel Phil Rosenfelt.

The 14th Amendment granted citizenship to "all persons born or naturalized in the United States," which included former slaves recently freed. In addition, it forbids states from denying any person "life, liberty or property, without due process of law" or to "deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws." By directly mentioning the role of the states, the 14th Amendment greatly expanded the protection of civil rights to all Americans and is cited in more litigation than any other amendment.

But there is more!

The event will include performances by students—including songs, videos and PSAs, who have participated in Constituting America. Constituting American is a multi-media outreach effort which uses television, music, film, the Internet and social media to educate Americans about the importance of the U.S. Constitution and the foundation it establishes for our freedoms and rights.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

Hear also from Caroline Shinkle, of CAMP USA, about how the civics camp motivates students to become civically engaged by learning about our nation's electoral process in a nonpartisan manner.

We hope to see you on Monday!

High Performance Leadership

WHAT: A POWERFUL CONVERSATION ON SERVANT LEADERSHIP

This session looks at the six dimensions of service leadership along with the 23-item behavioral profile as outlined in the Toastmasters International Development Program. We will assess our leadership behaviors using the profile tool and discuss best leadership practices in a facilitated group discussion.

We propose a discussion framed by the following six dimensions of servant leadership:

- Vision and Values
- Direction
- Persuasion
- Support
- Development
- Appreciation

We need high-performing leaders at every level of society – in government, military, community, civic and beyond. Leaders are people who see problems and work with others to achieve a unified purpose. We have learned a lot from leaders like Mahatma Gandhi, Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., Mother Teresa, Winston Churchill, Abraham Lincoln and George Patton, and we also learn from leaders in our communities like Susan G. Komen and Mothers Against Drunk Driving and others. We have issues and injustices in our communities, and the world is seeking everyday leaders like you to make a difference without ever leaving your own community.

We will assess our leadership strengths and areas of development using Toastmasters' High Performance Leadership model.

WHO

Countess Clarke Cooper is an award-winning artist, accomplished musician, ordained minister and military chaplain. A native of Tampa, Florida, she has been employed with the U.S. Department of Education for the past 26 years, primarily in Federal Student Aid (FSA). Over her tenure, she has served in various capacities, including as lead accountant, senior customer support representative, supervisory institutional review specialist, FOIA and audit liaison and more. Known for her public speaking skills and ability to connect with a wide range of people, Countess was asked by the FSA training director to help charter a Toastmasters club in FSA. In 2006, FSA Toastmasters was chartered and the club has aided in the development of 100+ leaders in government, and civic and private organizations of all ages and backgrounds. From 2005 to 2012, Countess served as a club president and every other club leadership role as well as outside the club as an area governor and a division governor. Her teams achieved the President's Distinguished awards on several occasions. In 2008, she earned the coveted Distinguished Toastmaster award, which is the highest award an individual can earn in Toastmasters and it is also an internationally recognized achievement. Countess loves the Toastmasters programs and will be using part of the High Performance Leadership manual today.

As a servant leader, she currently serves as a team pastor at a local church in Washington, D.C., and as a military chaplain in the U.S. Air Force (D.C. National Guard). At ED, she is the current president of the affinity group Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender, Queer and Allied (LGBTQA) Employees at ED. The role of a public servant is a sacred trust and she is a public servant at heart. Countess learned servant leadership at an early age from her mother, Mrs. Mary Alice Dorsett, who was a pioneering woman of firsts in Hillsborough County, Florida (Tampa):

1954 – First woman and first African-American to have a professional bail bonds business
1959 – First African-American to open a general employment agency
1962 – Founded a Faith Mission to minister to the total person
1965 – First woman and first African-American to run for the state legislature

Mrs. Dorsett's mentor – the late, great Dr. Nannie Helen Burroughs – was also a pioneering woman, in honor of whom a street in Washington, D.C., is named. Dr. Burroughs was the first African-American female to have her works displayed in the Smithsonian. There are over 110,000 of her literature and personal artifacts in the Library of Congress. A proponent of women's empowerment, she started Women's Day in the black church and she also started a school to train women and girls in foreign mission work.

Hi Lisa,

I understand that Frank is looking for some information on the provisions in Title VIII of the ESEA, including a sense of who within ED is responsible for ensuring compliance with each of the provisions. Can we chat about what, precisely, he is looking for?

Please forward this invitation to anyone else from OESE who should be included in the conversation, and then I will find us a room, once I know how many people will be attending the meeting.

House Bill 5193 of 2015

HB 5193 proposed to establish academic standards for all traditional public schools seeking approval from the Michigan Superintendent of Instruction to beginning the academic year early. Under current statute the superintendent has the discretion to grant early start waivers.

House Bill 5194 of 2015 and House Bill 4163 of 2017

HBs 5194 and 4163 sought/seek to eliminate calendar and schedule from the collective bargaining table. Michigan has increased the number of academic days which has made it increasingly difficult for local school districts and educators to complete the required academic and professional development days.

HB 5126 amends current law to allow for school districts to contract with law enforcement agencies in order to hire school resource officers in public schools. Several school districts across the State of Michigan use school resource officers as a means of school safety and community policing, without this legislation law enforcement agencies would have cancelled their contracts with local school districts.

Office of Elementary and Secondary Education: Part 1

Based on our review of relevant GAO reports, Education OIG reports, and various other Education documents, challenges related to assessing the performance of K-12 programs generally fell into three broad categories: (1) Data quality; (2) Oversight and monitoring, and (3) Capacity and resources. We consider program performance assessment to include both rigorous, systematic evaluations and ongoing monitoring and reporting of program accomplishments.

We are seeking your input on the challenges identified and requesting examples of specific K-12 programs that have faced or continue to face these particular challenges. Please complete the table below, as directed.

If you have any questions or comments, please contact Meredith Moore at MooreMM@GAO.gov or Kate O'Dea Lamas at ODeaLamasK@GAO.gov.

Please respond to these questions only if you agree that Education faces the associated challenge to K-12 program performance assessment noted in column A.

Are the following challenges to K-12 program performance assessment?		Is this a persistent challenge (i.e., >5 years)?	What are some examples of K-12 programs affected by this challenge, and how specifically does it hinder their performance assessment?	What steps, if any, has your office taken or does it plan to take to resolve or mitigate this challenge?	What additional comments, if any, do you have about this challenge (including remarks on how we characterize it)?
	Select Yes or No from the drop-down menu for each challenge	Select Yes, No, or N/A from the drop-down menu for each challenge
Data Quality refers to the ability to collect or report accurate, useful, and timely program performance data
Oversight and Monitoring refers to activities such as monitoring grantee performance and compliance with reporting requirements, conducting audits and evaluations, improving risk management, and providing technical assistance

Please respond to these questions only if you agree that Education faces the associated challenge to K-12 program performance assessment noted in column A.

Andrea Donegan – School Counselor Fellow Dr. Edward G. Dyer Intermediate School Grades 4-6 Burlington, Wisconsin Areas of Expertise: Anti-bullying, School Climate, Attendance, Equity, Rural Education, Counselor Advocacy, Data-driven Decision-making and Career Development Affiliations: Wisconsin School Counseling Association, American School Counseling Association, Wisconsin Nation Board Network, NBCT_EDGE Alliance through National University, National Board for Teaching Standards "I am pursuing the Fellowship with hopes of gaining a detailed understanding of how the Dept. of Education develops priorities, initiatives, and policies. Learning from the expertise of staff about national education issues and gaining insight, knowledge, and resources to take back to my school, district, and state education stakeholders is another goal. As a fellow, I would make a positive and significant impact on education by providing the Department with the voice of students, families, and educators. Collaboratively, we can elevate instructional practices, serve as a resource and lead educational initiatives at all levels." – From Andrea	Cynthia O'Brien – Teacher Ambassador Fellow Lincoln Elementary 5th Grade Naperville, Illinois Areas of Expertise: Equity, ESSA State Focus, School Climate, Teacher Professional Development, Teacher Preparation, Flexible Seating, Educational Technology Affiliations: National Education Association, Illinois Education Associations, Teach Plus, ASCD, Council for the Accreditation of Educator Preparation, Phi Delta Kappa "I see opportunities for student success in all circumstances and know that with hard work and determination, all schools can be places where students feel welcomed, can thrive, and be college or career bound. I will bring my experience and eagerness to this fellowship, as well as an open mind that is ready to receive more information on the policy creation process and training on crafting educational laws that set high standards yet give control at the local levels for a best fit." – From Cynthia

Subject: Out of the office: Teach to Lead STEAM Summit

Hi Jason,

I just wanted to give you a head's up that I'll be traveling to San Jose toward the end of next week for the Teach to Lead STEAM summit. I'll be plugged in Thursday morning before I head to the airport and I'll be available via cellphone (202.710.5973 ED or 443.567.1944 personal) if anything comes up and you need to reach me. With that said, I've also designated Mia Howerton as our point person in the office while I'm away. Thanks and feel free to let me know if you have any questions.

Best regards,

Orman

In an effort to prepare for the reorganization and an upcoming records management review conducted by the National Archives, OESE announces The Big Pause! to occur on Thursday, October 18, 2018. This will be a day without meetings, but one filled with focus, fun and food, as we work to purge and organize our documents, our computers and our office spaces. OAS Immediate Office staff and confidential assistants—please begin now to block ALL non-emergency meetings for Frank, Jason, Lisa, Mark and Tina. Please also begin to identify any meetings that we are driving that will need to be rescheduled, and any others where we have been invited but may be rescheduled. We will conduct the major activity for this day beginning during the core hours 9:00 a.m. – 3:00 p.m. We will schedule a follow up meeting to discuss our ideas for operationalizing this event, and then a briefing for Frank will follow. Subject: Youth Listening Session on Opioid Prevention and Recovery
Attachments: Questions_Youth Listening Session on Opioid Prevention and Recovery.docx

In an effort to utilize youth perspectives to help educate students, families and educators about the dangers of opioid misuse and about ways to prevent and overcome opioid addiction, ED would like to invite you to recommend a student for ED's Youth Listening Session on Opioid Prevention and Recovery.

Youth will provide experiential and/or anecdotal feedback regarding the personal, familial or communal impact opioids have had on their educational attainment. And, provide feedback regarding their work to address and prevent the impact opioids have had among their peers. Our scholar's stories - past and present – are the best way to understand the challenges students face during their education journey.

The goal of the session is to identify and disseminate promising strategies and practices to assist decision-makers, particularly at the state, local and community levels, to plan, implement and participate in effective programs for students, especially those who are at-risk of experimentation and misuse of opioids.

SAMHSA has kindly reviewed and revised our questions for our session. Please review the questions. We ask that the group only ask questions from the approved list of questions. A trauma expert will also join us. If you would like to add a question(s), please email them to me at Denisha.Merriweather@ed.gov.

Hope you're doing well. Jason mentioned wanting to attend a CSP meeting in the near future. He's out next week, and we have a number of people who will be out on our team the following week. Does he have a half-hour on either Wednesday, September 5th or Thursday, September 6th? If you give me options that work for him, I can look at our team's schedules and we can get something on his calendar.

Thank you!
Soumya

Jason,
I'm sorry to have missed seeing you at the Schusterman event last week. My father had health issues I needed to be there for.
My colleague Karen Baroody shared with me that you expressed interest in learning more about what we are working on related to financial transparency and what we are learning from that as well as from our deep work on this issue. We'd be happy to set a time to talk with you or a group of folks f you were interested.
Just let me know,
Karen

Key questions to consider

1. What times of the year does your office experience capacity constraints and what are the key drivers of work during those times?
2. What is the core work of your organization and what are the specific functions that employees are assigned to complete this critical work[1]? For example, making grant awards to recipients.
3. What work would you label as non-core but essential (NC/E) work and what are the specific functions that employees are assigned to complete this NC/E work? For example, a retreat to discuss best practices for providing technical assistance to grantees.
4. What work would you label as non-core and non-essential (NC/NE) and what are the specific functions that employees are assigned to complete this NC/NE work?
5. At current staffing levels:
    1. What core work is your office unable to address? What are the gaps? What are the risks to the office/Department if this work isn't completed?
    2. What FTE level and/or contract resources are necessary to fully meet the current core work of the office?
    3. What NC/E work is your office unable to address? What are the gaps? What are the risks to the office/Department if this work isn't addressed?
    4. What FTE level and/or contract resources are necessary to fully meet the current NC/E work of the office?
    5. If you could start from scratch with the same staffing and contract resources, how would you redistribute or redesign your office structure (numbers and grade levels)?
6. At a 10% increase and 10% decrease to current staffing levels:
    1. What core and NC/E work would your office add with a 10% increase and which functions would your office not be able to address at a 10% decrease?
    2. Which organizations within your office would you provide additional resources if you received a budget increase?
    3. Which organizations within your office would be most impacted by a budget decrease?
7. For all offices, please review your executive office staff numbers and grade structure and advise why your staffing levels are higher or lower than the median.

[1] Office's core work is defined as work that must be done to meet its legislative mandates and legitimize its existence.

AMERICAN OVERSIGHT

8. What would you do differently to reduce executive office staffing?

9. For support offices, how many positions could you eliminate if discretionary resources decreased by 13%? What if the number of competitive grants, contracts, and regulations was cut in half?

10. Which Department-wide meetings do you find most and least helpful in meeting your office's mission

11. What other ideas do you have to reduce costs within your POC?

12. What ideas do you have to reduce costs across ED?
